METHODIST PASTOR TELLS OF NEED OF REVIVAL IN CHURCH

At the morning service of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, South, March and Lamar preceding the sacrament of the Lord's Supper the pastor, Dr. C. M. Simpson, spoke briefly on the theme of "The Necessity of Sacrifice," using as the text "He saved others; Himself He could not save."

"We have been given to consider, at a considerable length," the pastor said, "the statements that have come down to us from the cross concerning the last words of Jesus, some men referred to as 'the seven sayings of Christ on the cross,' but here is one of a number of sayings that were hurled back to the cross, this one being a part of a conversation of the enemies of Jesus gathered within hearing distance of the cross. This is a saying of derision in their conversation referring, as they meant it, to the inability of Jesus, but the saying coins into a fine statement a great universal truth and applies in any realm where helpfulness is to be achieved. 'He saved others, Himself He could not save.'

"It is literally true that He had saved others from disability and disease. At His hand the blind had been made to see. At His bidding, the deaf had come to hear. At His touch, the leper had been made whole and restored to strength. It was literally true that even physical death had yielded to His words, and out of death life had stalked forth. In that upper room, the little maid had come back to life at His words when the inner circle were gathered in. At His touch of the bier, the son of the widow of Nain, when the corpse was being carried to the cemetery, stood up in life and joined his mother on the return from the funeral restored to his original place.

"That happy home circle made up of the two sisters and the brother was broken in the death of Lazarus, and four days after the funeral, at the word of Jesus, he came out of the tomb and was returned to that home circle again. It was not to be denied by anybody, both friend and foe, that Jesus had saved others. He had only saved men from physical disability and disease and death, but He went into that higher realm and saved them from sin. The woman of Sychar found the power that pardoned her sins as Jesus spoke to her. The poor paralytic heard the words from the lips of the Son of God, 'Thy sins be forgiven thee,' and then the other words, 'I say unto thee, take up thy bed and walk.' Now the words spoken in derision declare a universal truth of which the speakers were not aware.

"This law of sacrifice holds good everywhere. The grasses turned on the farm must be destroyed in order that the soil may be enriched. The fowls and the lambs and the calves must give up their lives if the physical well being of men is sustained. It is the law of sacrifice that upholds the world at any point in its higher achievement. The teacher who saves the child life of the world from ignorance must pour out her strength in the attempt. I am thinking today of a young woman of beauty and much attractiveness as she began the teacher life 35 years ago.

"During that stretch of years, she has routed ignorance from the lives of multitudes of children, but today her beauty has flown away and in its stead is a head of silver hair and a countenance scarred by the deep marks of the cares of the years. She has saved the child life of our nation in the realm of education, her own youth and beauty she could not save. The faithful physician through storm and stress and cold and privation has saved the physical well being in our midst. His own comfort and rest within his own home circle he could not keep. When we lift this up into the higher realm, we find the Son of God saving the world from sin, but when He took the sin of the world on his heart and put the world's burdens on his shoulders, He did it at the price of His own life. This is the source of our own hope and our own joy and our own salvation. It was a willing sacrifice based upon a worthy purpose and prompted by the greatest love. 'Greater love hath no man than this that he lay down his life for his friends.'

"We are beginning today a great pre Easter campaign in which we hope to enlist every one of the 1700 members of our church in some form of Christian service and enlist a large number of new members and begin a great building campaign that ought to involve every single one of us. The issue is clearly drawn. Shall we take up a position of indifference and inaction and ease and self-indulgence, or shall we be willing to make the sacrifice that involves enlistment and labor and courage and persistance. If we save ourselves, we lose in the task. Jesus has set us the example. If we follow him in willing sacrifice, we shall win."

JUST DRAGGED SO WEAKENED

Florida Lady Was In a Miserable Condition, But Says She Found Cardui Helpful, and Got Well

Altha, Fla.—In explaining how she found Cardui so helpful during change of life, Mrs. Ella M. Bailey, of R. F. D. 2, this place, said:

"I became so weakened it was an effort for me to get around. I knew what was the matter, but I felt like I couldn't give up.

"I just dragged, and I certainly was nervous. I was so restless I could not sit down long—yet so weak I couldn't get about. It is a most miserable and such a helpless feeling.

"I would get depressed and out of heart.

"I began to feel, after awhile, there was no use to try to get well. This is all wrong, for it makes a person worse.

"I had heard of Cardui, and thought it might strengthen me. A neighbor had used it with good results.

"I took one bottle (of Cardui), then I saw I wasn't so nervous, so kept it up.

"Gradually the nervousness left me. I began to eat and sleep better. Was soon well, and all right.

"Cardui did wonders for me, and I certainly do recommend it."

Thousands of other women have written to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardui, and to recommend it to others.

Cardui has stood the test of extensive use, for more than forty years. In the treatment of troubles common to women.

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

Thin? Run-down? Sure Way to Get Right Weight

Increase Your Red-Blood-Cells. That's the Sure Way! S. S. S. Builds Blood-Cells; This Means Strength!

Do you know why insurance companies refuse to insure a great many men because they are under weight? Simply because to be under weight often means low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus energy, minus vitality. It is serious to be skinny, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plump. That's why S. S. S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Hollow cheeks fill out. You stop being a calamity-looker. You inspire confidence. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the sagging lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them. Ladies and gentlemen, a peaky, bony face doesn't make you look very important or pretty, does it? Take S. S. S. It contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

PASTOR SPEAKS OF CHRIST AS WAY TO MAN'S SALVATION

A synopsis of the Sunday night sermon of Rev. George W. Spier, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist congregation, at the Labor Temple, has been furnished The Times as follows:

Christ, the pre-existent One, was with the Father before the world was. "In the beginning was the word, and the word was with God and the word was God" (John 1:1). Christ was "the mighty God, the everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace." "His goings forth have been from of old, from the days of eternity" (Isa. 9:6, Micah 5:2). While here on earth He prayed for the glory which he had with the Father before the world was (John 17:5). Christ was the leader of Israel during their wilderness wanderings (1 Cor. 10:4). He says of Himself, "Before Abraham was I am."

Jesus Christ the Creator. Christ was associated with the Father in creation. "God created all things by Jesus Christ. "All things were made by Him and for Him" (Eph 3:9, Col. 1:16). "In the beginning was the word. . . . All things were made by Him . . . and the world was made by Him" (John 1:1, 3:10). "God hath in these last days spoken unto us by His Son . . . by whom also, He made the worlds" (Heb. 1:1, 2). The myriads of shining worlds that traverse their vast, trackless orbits through space were all created by Jesus Christ. He made the Sabbath also (Mark 2:27, 28).

Christ the Divine One. Two thousand years ago the divine word became flesh, and tabernacled among men (John 1:14). A mysterious voice from the throne of God said, "A body hast thou prepared me, . . . lo, I come . . . to do thy will, O God" (Heb 10:5-7). The divine Son of God set up His tabernacle in the midst of our human encampment. He was "God with us" (Matt. 1:23). While he moved about here among men he was the Son of God (Matt. 3:16, 17:5). God was manifested in the flesh. God was in Christ (1 John 2:16, 2 Cor. 5:19). Christ was filled with all the fulness of God (Col. 2:9).

Christ as "That Prophet." As "that prophet" of whom Moses spake (Deut. 18:18), Christ exalted the words of God and repudiated the traditions of the religious leaders of His time (John 5:24, Matt. 15:1-6). He revealed the life history of the woman at the well, and wrote in the dust on the temple floor the secret sins of the plotting Pharisees (John 4:39; 8:8). He foretold the destruction of Jerusalem, and the signs of his advent and of the end of the world (Luke 19:41-44, Matt. 24:3-35).

Our Great High Priest. As our great high priest in heaven, the efficacy of his mediation extends to "the transgressions that were under the first covenant" as well as to those under the second (Heb 9:15, 8:6). Though at the right hand of the Father in heaven, Christ is still "the Son of Man" (Luke 13:3, Acts 7:56). He is touched with the feelings of our infirmities, and is afflicted in all our afflictions (Heb 4:15; Isa. 63:9). And we will have "to the uttermost" them that come unto God through Him (Heb. 7:25).

Christ the Coming King. Soon He who died as king of the Jews will come as king of kings on the throne of His glory (Rev. 19:15, 16; Matt. 25:31). He will "overthrow the thrones of kingdoms and the chariots of those that ride therein" (Hag. 2:22). He will make the nations as the chaff of the threshing floor, when no place shall be found for them (Dan. 2:35, 44), and cause wars to cease unto the end of the earth (Ps. 46:9). Then the saints of the Most High will take the kingdom and possess the kingdom forever, and all dominions shall serve and obey Him (Dan. 7:18, 27).

TWO BURN IN BURKBURNETT FIRE

BELL COUNTY HAS NINE INCH SNOW; DAMAGE IS HEAVY

DALLAS, TEXAS, Feb. 6.—The cold weather that swept the entire state for the past three days had lost considerable intensity today, reports indicated, although early glances at the thermometer showed the state more or less near the freezing point.

In Jefferson county, near the Gulf coast, between 10,000 and 14,000 head of cattle are estimated by ranchers to have frozen to death. Here the most extended damage was caused by the spell, according to reports.

The heaviest snowfall was reported in Bell county where nine inches fell, the deepest in 30 years. All street car and interurban services were at a standstill in Temple and between Belton and Temple.

Cattle Loss Heavy

HOUSTON, Feb. 6.—With temperatures generally rising southeast Texas today was checking up on damage caused by the freezing weather of the last two days.

Galveston county stockmen are reported to have suffered a loss of 3,000 to 4,000 head, principally due to heavy rains preceding Sunday night's freeze. This loss was heaviest around Virginia Point, League City and Dickinson. Truck was not seriously injured. Harris county, it is said, suffered loss of several thousand head of livestock. The loss in cattle in Jefferson county is estimated at more than 10,000 head.

Heavy Loss Reported.

BROWNSVILLE, TEXAS, Feb. 6. Vegetable growers today reported heavy losses in all parts of the lower Rio Grande valley from last night's freeze, but the citrus fruit escaped with slight damage. Minimum temperatures ranged from 25 degrees above zero at Donna to 2 at Brownsville. The citrus orchards, many of which were in full bloom, were saved by the use of orchard heaters and burning brush, growers said.

Heavy Snow Falls.

AMARILLO, TEXAS, Feb. 6.—A heavy sleetfall, accompanied by a strong north wind, is reported at Dalhart and Stratford, in the north part of the panhandle. The temperature here at 1 o'clock was 39 degrees, fair weather prevailing.

SAYS FREIGHT AND STANDARD OIL ARE HURTING REFINERS

INCREDIBLE SUCH CONDITION SHOULD EXIST, SAYS LA FOLLETTE.

SAYS ROADS SLAPPED GENTLY ON THE WRIST

Witness Suggests That They Were Only Threatened With Spanking.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. — High freight rates on oil, combined with a large measure of control exercised by the Standard group of oil companies over pipe line transportation is steadily beating down the independent refiner, James F. Lawrence of Kansas City, Mo., representing the Western Petroleum Refiners' association, declared today at the senate oil inquiry.

"The Standard purchasing agencies dominate the market and fix the price for crude," Mr. Lawrence told the investigating committee in turn the different Standard companies fix the price of gasoline all over the United States. Their transportation of crude by pipe lines through the larger centers makes them independent of the railroads and they have refining plants in all of the great consuming areas served by the pipe lines."

Mr. Lawrence testified that the general freight rate increase of 1920 as applied to oil had the effect of making it impossible for refiners in the mid-continent fields to compete with the Standard companies able to take advantage of pipe line transportation.

Illustrating his point the witness said that the freight rate on fuel oil from the Oklahoma field to Cleveland amounted to 179 per cent of the value of the product, on kerosene from Oklahoma to Cleveland 189 per cent of the value, and on crude oil the freight rate was 171 per cent of the value from Oklahoma to Indianapolis, Columbus, Ohio and Pittsburgh.

"Have these facts been presented to the I. C. C.? asked Chairman La Follette.

"The commission was advised in 1920 before the rate increases went into effect what would be the result but so far as known hearing was not had on the matter until last December 27," the witness replied.

The commission, he added, referred to oil rates in its decision of last year reducing freight rates generally and suggested that the existing rates might have the result of curtailing shipments from the western fields to the east.

"It is incredible that such a condition should exist so long," remarked Chairman LaFollette. "The commission, it seems, has not done much more than to slap the railroad gently on the wrist."

"I would say that the commission has only threatened to spank the carriers," the witness rejoined.

THREE QUARTERS OF MILE EXTENSION TO FIELD IS INDICATED

Three quarters of a mile extension to the 1909 foot pay in the Electra field is promised by the showing in the Robinson test located in the northwest 40 acres of the Fisher tract, section 16 H. T. C. R. R. survey, abstract 401, east and north of the L. P. Douglass tract, east of Electra.

The top of the sand that showed plenty of oil was encountered at 1495 feet and was drilled into a short distance, casing was set and it is expected the well will begin bailing today. In the event of the completion of a well it will be the means of extending this pay the above distance, as the closest production from this depth is the Camp Oil & Gas company's producer on the L. P. Douglass tract.

STEWART CASE IS SHIFTED TO FEDERAL COURT IN ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6.—The United States circuit court of appeals here today denied application of counsel for W. E. Stewart, charged with using the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of land in Hidalgo county, Texas, for a writ of mandamus to compel Federal Judge Van Valkenburgh of Kansas City to accept Stewart's no contest plea. As a result of this action Stewart's trial in Kansas City will proceed tomorrow, it was explained.

Counsel for Stewart applied for the writ, alleging Judge Van Valkenburgh accepted the no contest plea and then set it aside.

The hearing was before Judges Stone, Lewis and Kenyon, and in announcing the denial of the application, Judge Stone said all three were agreed that the lower court acted within its rights.

A jury has been drawn in Kansas City for the case and had the application been granted, it was explained, the trial would have been necessary.

Stewart's counsel announced the no contest plea was in effect a plea of guilty but was made merely to obviate the necessity of a trial, so the matter could be brought before the appellate court more speedily to attack the indictment, alleged to be faulty.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 6.—The scene of the case of W. E. Stewart, charged in federal court here with use of the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of Hidalgo county, Texas, land, shifted today to the appellate court in St. Louis. There a hearing was scheduled on an application made by one of Stewart's attorneys for a writ of mandamus which would compel Federal Judge Arba S. Van Valkenburgh to accept a plea of nolo contendere made by Stewart and set aside by the judge. On the result of the hearing depended whether Stewart's trial for which a jury has been drawn in federal court here, will proceed tomorrow. If the appellate court should grant the grant this would obviate a trial, as acceptance by the judge of the nolo contendere plea would entitle Stewart to sentence without admission of guilt.

C. C. Madison, United States district attorney and his special assistant, W. H. Hallett, who are conducting the prosecution were in St. Louis to oppose the granting of the writ.

REPORTED FRENCH TROOPS ADVANCED BEYOND FRONTIER

EXTEND LINES TWENTY-FIVE MILES SAYS BERLIN DISPATCH.

MOMENTARILY EXPECT OCCUPATION MANNHEIM

Troops Are Reported Now Occupying City of Gudpelian, In Hesse.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A report that the French have advanced 25 miles beyond the frontier, occupying Gudelian, in Hesse, reached London today in an Essen dispatch to the Times. The correspondent adds that the Germans momentarily expect the occupation of Mannheim.

By Associated Press.

The policy of resistance to the French occupation of the Ruhr valley has not been modified, but is growing steadily stronger, the German government declared today through its embassy in Washington. Managers of big industries in the valley express confidence in their ability to carry on and at the same time prevent the French from getting anything worthwhile out of the district, however, effectively they might occupy it militarily.

The immense Thyssen plants in the Ruhr and vicinity employing some 34,000 men are declared by the management not to have been affected by either the railroad or coal strikers. The plants are working full time, mining their own fuel as do many other big industries in the valley.

The railroad strike seems again largely effective in the Ruhr and important districts in the Rhineland. Navigation on the Rhine from Ruhr valley points is reported at a complete standstill

Chancellor Cuno, head of the Berlin government, is on a visit to the occupied Ruhr area where he has been holding conferences and informing himself on the situation from personal observation.

Press dispatches seen by Interpress at Berlin, would not predict whether the conferences he is holding on his surprise visit to the Ruhr are with a view to negotiations for

BELIEVE ELEVEN PEOPLE BURN IN FIRE IN WICHITA

WICHITA, KAN., Feb. 6.—Eight bodies still are believed to be buried under tons of debris in the basement of the Getto building, swept by fire early yesterday, police and fire headquarters announced today after a careful recheck of all available list of occupants. Three burned torsos were removed from the wreckage yesterday, making the probable number of deaths in the fire 11.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR BODIES AT WICHITA, KAN.

WICHITA, KAN., Feb. 6.—With three unidentified bodies recovered, firemen at daybreak today resumed their search of the ruins of the Getto apartment building, which was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. Eight persons were severely injured, most of them suffering dangerous burns. Their condition, according to reports from hospitals, remained unchanged overnight. Fire Chief Al Brownewell stated, as work was resumed, that he did not believe that more than four or possibly five persons had been killed

Reports last night stated that 27 persons were missing but a recheck today showed most of these accounted for.

The bodies recovered were burned beyond recognition

The building, a four-story structure, was completely demolished.

The upper three floors were occupied as apartments, while the lower housed retail stores.

The flames, which were discovered about 3 a. m. had gained such headway that little attempt was made to save the building, firemen devoting their efforts to the rescuing of the persons on the upper floor.

GRISWOLD OIL CO. GETS 200 BARREL WELL AT ELECTRA

The first and best completion for the week in the Wichita Falls district was made Tuesday, by the Griswold Oil company on their lease B. No. 2 Waggoner lands in the Gibson survey, south Electra pool. The sand was picked up at 1655 feet which was penetrated a few feet when the well flowed at the rate of 200 barrels. The company has made a location for their No 8-A, 150 feet west of this new producer.

The same company is also setting casing on the sand at 1500 feet for No. 8-12 lease Waggoner and will complete the latter part of the week. On the Burnett tract No. 47 A lease is preparing to drill into the 1909 foot pay in a day or two

TURKS ARE READY TO SIGN ALL TERMS OF PEACE CONFERENCE

LAUSANNE, Feb. 6.—It was confirmed from reliable official circles late today that important peace parleys are now hurriedly proceeding between Paris and London in a final effort to arrange a peace treaty settlement. In view of this, Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol probably will not leave Lausanne tonight as he intended and Ambassador Grew will not return to Berne but will remain in Lausanne to watch developments.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—France has notified Great Britain that the Ottoman delegation at Lausanne has agreed to sign all the peace terms.

The Turks decision to accept all the terms which they rejected Sunday was communicated to the French foreign office and immediately forwarded to Downing street.

The French government urges Great Britain that the affair be settled immediately in the interests of all the allies generally and of France herself, in particular.

The French ambassador visited the British foreign office this morning for the government's answer.

Reuter's Limited, quoting a French source, says it is confirmed in well informed quarters that the Turks made Marquis Curzon proposals for a separate peace between Turkey and Great Britain. No official details are available.

PARIS, Feb. 6.—Advices received at Paris from Lausanne state that the near east conference has not been terminated officially and that Ismet Pasha is ready to accept the allied treaty if the Turkish delegates are permitted to discuss further the economic clauses.

Resumption of the conference in another month, after Ismet has returned from Angora, is also said to have been suggested by the head of the nationalist delegation.

By Associated Press.

LAUSANNE, Feb 6.—Rizza Nur Bey of the Turkish delegation to the near east conference said today that Turkey and the powers had reached an accord on the juridical capitulations, but that Turkey still maintained her contention which an agreement had not been effected.

The Turks announced that they would leave for Angora at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning. They said that offers had been made to eliminate from the treaty the economic clauses to which they have objected, leaving such questions to further negotiations.

Riza Nur said Turkey believed the objectionable clauses could be eliminated or revised.

The indications are that the Turks, by further procrastination, seek more concessions from the allies and that the ultimate fate of the Lausanne treaty rests not here but in the hands of the governments in London, Paris and Rome.

No Plan Submitted.

Ismet Pasha early today telephoned the American delegation asking what time Richard Washburn Child was departing. It was thought the Turkish foreign minister desired to leave the path for definite action open until the last moments. Ambassador Child and Marquis di Garroni of Italy, left for Rome shortly afternoon. Ismet saw them off at the station but submitted no definite plan for a settlement.

The members of the Italian delegation said that with the economic chapters of the treaty reserved for future negotiations there seemed no reason why the Turks could not sign, but as both the English and French delegations had departed the Turks were hesitating to take formal action.

The Japanese delegation will leave tonight under the impression that nothing more can be accomplished at Lausanne at this moment. Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol of the American delegation, also is leaving tonight for Constantinople.

The Russian delegation sent an official note to the conference today saying they understood it had been officially suspended and therefore no decision had been taken concerning the Turkish straits. The Russians asked Great Britain, France and Italy, as the inviting powers, to notify them of the place and time at which the negotiations would be resumed.

NEXT MOVE DEPENDS ON BRITISH GOVERNMENT

PARIS, Feb. 6.—The reopening of the near east conference at Lausanne was said in official circles here this afternoon to depend upon the British government's reply to Premier Poincare's note of yesterday. In this note the French premier made it known to Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, that the Turks were disposed to accept the allied proposal for a settlement of the capitulations question.

The break at Lausanne Sunday is attributed in French circles to the fact that there was friction within the Turkish delegation and that the Turks had not fully appreciated the extent of ground the conference had gone over and that the time had come to bring it to an end

It is thought now that the Turks are ready to resume the conference with a disposition that promises an early and successful termination of the negotiations.

ANGORA ASSEMBLY IN SESSION MONDAY NIGHT

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 6—The Angora assembly held a secret session last night upon receipt of the news of the Lausanne conference rupture. The result of the deliberations was not made public.

While the situation is conceded by Turkish newspapers to be grave, the hope is generally expressed that a peaceful solution will be reached, but a dispatch to the Tevhid from Angora says:

"The last word is left to our bayonets"

TROOP TRANSPORT EXPECTED IN PORT WEDNESDAY A. M.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—A radiogram to the war department today from the transport St. Mihiel, bringing home the American troops from the Rhineland, said the ship would reach the lightouse off Savannah at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning and would arrive at dock between 12 o'clock and 1 p. m.

The troops on their arrival at Savannah will be welcomed by an official congressional committee composed of Senators Harris, democrat, Georgia, and Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, and Representative Johnson, republican, South Dakota; Lineberger, republican, California; Connally, democrat, Texas; Bulwinkle, democrat, North Carolina, and Scott, republican, Tennessee. The committee left here late today

SENATOR ATTACKS RIVER-HARBOR ITEM APPROPRIATION BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—A fight on the $56,000,000 rivers and harbors item in the army bill broke in the senate today, Senator King, democrat, Utah, declaring that "both the house and senate committees had absolutely ignored the budget recommendations on this item.

Those in charge of the measure, Senator King said ought not object if senators desired to add amendments specifying that certain amounts be expended from the lump sum appropriation for individual projects.

An amendment by Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, setting aside $250,000 for improvements on the Missouri river between Sioux City, Iowa and Fort Benton, Mont., was opposed by Chairman Wadsworth of the military committee, who declared it constituted a "limitation" contrary to the general policy followed in the last four years.

Senator Fletcher, democrat, Florida, declared there had been no recommendation for the project discussed by Mr McCumber because army engineers had reported the government work required would be essentially for the protection of adjoining lands and, therefore, should be done by land owners.

TWO PEOPLE KILLED NINE MORE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

ST. PAUL, MINN., Feb. 6—Two men were killed and four persons injured, two critically, today when a speeding police car skidded on an icy street and crashed into millinery shop in the residence section. The front of the building collapsed when the car struck it.

Edwin Karl Hacket 30, patrolman, and William Wilson, 40, negro chauffeur, are the dead. Arthur Hoesig and William Kostohrys, patrolmen, and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Throckmorton, were the injured.

The Throckmortons were precipitated from their bed amid a mass of wreckage when the speeding police car smashed the studding from under the front of the building and brought a shower of bricks and iron down upon the heads of the patrolmen. Throckmorton and his wife were bruised

TEXT BOOK BILL IS MADE SPECIAL ORDER THURSDAY

INTRODUCE BILL TO ABOLISH COURTS OF CIVIL APPEALS.

SENATE BILL WOULD EXTEND OFFICE TERMS

Measure Also Introduced to Exempt Factories From Taxation Ten Years.

AUSTIN, Feb. 6—The Pope bill seeking to extend contracts of text books in use on December 1, last, for three years, was set as a special order of business for Thursday morning when it came up for consideration in the senate this morning. An attempt to re-refer the bill to committee and hold a public hearing on it failed by a vote of 12 to 1

Senator Parr this morning introduced in the senate the so-called "white man's" primary bill, which was introduced in the house yesterday. The bill provides that primary voters must subscribe to party pledges adopted by state executive committees and seeks to prevent injunctions being issued against candidates. The latter provision is said to be directed against recurrence of situations such as the senatorial controversy last fall

Committee reports made in the senate this morning included the following: Favorable, Sparkman, house bill providing penalty for chicken thieving; unfavorable, Davis, sale of pistols; Stuart, directions for train movements; Doyle, actual weight of carload shipments of coal and other products; Doyle, prohibiting remarriage for two years after obtaining divorce

Chief among the measures introduced in the senate today were three proposed constitutional amendments by Senator Doyle of Maxia. One proposes abolishment of all nine courts of civil appeals and concentration of these courts into a supreme court of 15 members. Another proposes to extend the terms of office of all state, county, district and precinct officers to four years and prohibit re-election. United states senators, congressmen and district, civil and supreme court judges would be exempted from this provision. The third amendment would exempt factories and industrial mills erected in Texas from taxation for a period of 10 years.

The senate passed two local bills and engrossed seven other measures. A bill by Senator Stuart of Taylor county proposing interlocutory decrees in divorce suits and final issuance of decree six months after decision, was killed when it failed to be engrossed by a vote of 18 to 7. Bills engrossed included Davis, exempting public utility companies from blue sky law; McMillin, extending absentee voting law to persons outside the state; Witt, permitting use of savings by loan associations, and Floyd and Turner, permitting certain foreign loan associations to operate in Texas without filing bond or deposit with insurance commissioner.

Other measures introduced today were: Parr, authorizing counties to issue irrigation bonds; Woods, relating to compensation of county commissioners; Holbrook, regulating cooperative savings and loan associations; Witt, penalty for false statement of personal financial accounts.

PROTEST PASSAGE OF WITT INSURANCE BILL

AUSTIN, Feb. 6—A strong protest against passage of the Witt bill now pending before the senate and authorizing the fire insurance commission to penalize towns for bad fire records, was read in the senate today at request of Senator Watts from E. M. Thomas, mayor of Ennis. Mayor Thomas declared the passage of the bill would cost the citizens of the state several million dollars annually and urged the measure be defeated.

HEARING WEDNESDAY ON PROPOSED RAILROAD DEAL

AUSTIN, Feb. 6.—Final hearing on the proposal to authorize the Beaumont and Great Northern, proposed to purchase and operate the Trinity Valley and Sabine railroad will be held tomorrow afternoon. Senator Fairfield, chairman of the senate committee on internal improvements, announced today. Delegations from several points will appear before the committee Fair child said

MAN LOSES LIFE IN EFFORT TO SAVE CHILD FROM FLAMES; ONE OF CHILDREN IS RESCUED

BURKBURNETT, TEXAS, Feb. 6.—Fire causing two deaths occurred Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock on West Fifth street. A small frame building occupied by Ross Cullum, an employe of the Hobbs Oil company, was totally destroyed, caused presumably by a gas explosion. There seems to have been no one in the house at the time of the fire except the two children of the Cullum's and when it was observed by Charlie Coe, another oil field worker, the building was entirely enveloped in flames. Coe entered the burning building and safely rescued one of the children, but upon the second time, and with the child in his arms, the roof suddenly collapsed and the unfortunate man with his precious burden was burned to death and their blackened remains were removed from the debris in an unrecognizable condition.

The mother of the child was away from home at the time of the accident visiting a sick relative on block 98.

Names of relatives of the unfortunate victim who lost his life in trying to save the lives of the two small children, are not available at this time but the best information obtainable is that his parents reside near Frederick, Okla., where the body will be shipped for interment.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6—The [illegible] Missouri Pacific railroad [illegible] in connection with the strike of 1922 [illegible] general manager, to [illegible] here today.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6—Orville J. Taylor of Chicago, upon all assistant to Attorney General Daugherty, today was to begin taking depositions here of officials and employes of railroads and express companies in connection with alleged acts of violence in connection with the shopmen's strike.

The railroads for [illegible] were said to have been affected by the strike are the Missouri Pacific, Missouri, Kansas-Texas, Wabash, Burlington St. Louis-San Francisco, St. Louis-Southwestern, Rock Island, Chicago and Alton, and the Terminal railroad association.

The hearing probably will continue several days, it was said, and testimony gathered will be used by the attorney general Mo. 2 before Federal Judge Wilkerson at Chicago, in support of a demand to have the judge's sweeping temporary injunction made permanent.

HOUSE PASSES BILL FOR THREE MILLION FOR STATE SCHOOLS

GIBSON, OF WICHITA FALLS, IS AMONG THOSE OPPOSING MEASURE.

SATTERWHITE PREDICTS GUBERNATORIAL VETO

Opponents Are Reminded of Recent Provision For West Texas School

AUSTIN, Feb. 6.—The house this morning engrossed and finally passed the bill by Representatives Wilson of Sulphur Springs, and others, appropriating $3,000,000 for the aid of public schools for the scholastic year beginning September 1, 1923, to be distributed as is the available school fund. The vote on final passage was 107 to 10.

Representative Satterwhite (Jackson) opposed the bill on the grounds of economy and predicted a Republican veto because the bill contained provision for raising the school apportionment. Representative Gibson of Wichita Falls also opposed it on much the same ground and other measures being [illegible] by the school fund. Representative Wilson however, vigorously defended the bill declaring that the state could not afford to provide for the young children of the state if it could afford to build a state college in west Texas.

This is the second measure passed by the house which [illegible] last week the house passed the bill providing for a bond issue for the benefit of the school fund.

The committee on criminal jurisprudence reported unfavorably the bill by Representatives Turner of Harris and others making it a felony for any person while [illegible] to go to the premises of another person for the purpose of intimidating or coercing the occupants. The committee report was favorable on a bill by House resolution of Potter making it a felony for officers to hold a legal [illegible] meeting to match party.

TWO IMPORTANT BILLS BEFORE THE LEGISLATURE

AUSTIN, Feb. 6.—Two measures of vital importance to the state were before the legislature today. The first is the Nelson bill, providing a constitutional amendment for a biennial appropriation of money for the public schools and the Pope bill proposing to extend the text book law in force in the state for three years. The latter bill will be before the house for [illegible] tomorrow.

Representatives Nelson and Wilson introduced a resolution in the house asking the [illegible] officials to take action looking to the recognition of the Mexican government. Lieutenant Governor Davidson is expected to introduce a similar resolution in the senate.

The Pope text book bill has already passed the house and was passed to engrossment in the senate last Thursday just before adjournment for the legislative tour to the Rio Grande valley. Debate on the measure was cut off at that time and it will now require a two-thirds vote to amend the bill, it is said. The measure however is expected to draw sharp debate and several attempts to amend it as passed by the house. Senator Wood announced a ruling from the attorney general today as to the validity of the bill.

The little reading bill also scheduled for some special consideration in the house today. The Holbrook bill providing for separation of the insurance and banking departments is on the senate calendar for engrossment today.

TRIAL OF MORSE AND THREE SONS TO START FEB. 19

WITH SON AND EIGHT OTHERS CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY.

CASE GROWS OUT OF WAR TIME CONTRACTS

Amount Involved in Alleged Conspiracy to Defraud Is Forty Million.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Trial of Charles W. Morse, New York ship builder, his three sons and eight others on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with war time shipping contracts, which was to have begun today in the District of Columbia supreme court, was postponed until Monday, February 19.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Benjamin and Henry Morse, scheduled to go to trial in Washington today with their father, Charles W. Morse their brother, Irvin, and eight other defendants for alleged war frauds, were arrested by a department of justice agent at the Pennsylvania terminal this morning.

WASHINGTON, Feb 6.—The first trial growing out of the investigation of alleged "war frauds" by the special grand jury here began today in the criminal division of the District of Columbia supreme court with Charles W Morse, his three sons and eight others as defendants. They are charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States and the emergency fleet corporation through war time shipping contracts involving approximately $40,000,000

The defendants besides Charles W Morse are Irvin Benjamin and Harry Morse. Colin H Livingstone, former president of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation, George M. Yardlit, attorney for the Morse interests; Nehemiah R. Campbell of New York, assistant treasurer of the United States Transport company, Inc Rupert Mich Augusta, Me., assistant treasurer of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation; W. W Scott, Washington attorney; Philip Reinhardt, auditor for the United States emergency fleet corporation of Alexandria, Va; Louis and D Christie, treasurer of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation, and Robert O. White, assistant treasurer of the Groton Iron Works and president of the United Transport company, Inc

The investigations were begun by the government in 1921, and later were conducted by the special grand jury. Two indictments were returned, both covering identical transactions and accusing the same persons. One charges a conspiracy to defraud the United States and the other a conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States by defrauding the United States shipping board

The government's investigations into the shipbuilding operations of Morse first came to light when the department of justice asked the navy department to send a destroyer to intercept a French liner here carrying Morse to France from New York. Morse agreed to return here and he was arrested on his return

NEW GRAND JURY IS INVESTIGATING GOOSE CREEK CASE

JUDGE SAYS LAW MUST BE ENFORCED TO PROTECT LIBERTY.

RECENT GRAND JURY FAILED TO INDICT

Court Includes Odd Fellows, Klan and Mooses in Mention of Organizations.

HOUSTON, Feb 6.—Bearing in mind the ultimatum of Criminal District Judge C. W. Robinson issued Monday that "when mob members who whipped Mrs. R. A. Harrison and R. A. Armand of Goose Creek on January 5 have been indicted or when further investigation has been barred by the statute of limitations, then, and then only, with this county stop the inquiry into the outrage" the new grand jury of Harris county Texas, today began efforts to throw light on the case, which the jury before was unable to do.

The judge included the Odd Fellows, Masons and Ku Klux Klan in his mention of organizations which should be investigated for proof of administering whipping mobs for corrective purposes.

"The time has arrived in Texas when the laws of this country must be enforced in order to protect human liberty," Judge Robinson said in his charge

"The grand jury that adjourned last week put in some time attempting to run down the perpetrators of the Goose Creek floggings they totally failed.

"Now, I don't want to say that the peace officers have not tried to run down these people, I don't want to think that, but I do say this That these men that entered that woman's house were organized; that they had from some source somebody that appointed these men to do that work, and I will tell you why I say that. You and I could not have gone to Goose Creek and got half a dozen men to go out and commit a crime of that sort without having invited at least three times the number that participated in the offense and some of the fellows invited who refused to go would give it away.

"If you can run down these crimes and teach the people of this country that the laws of this state shall not be trampled under foot with impunity, you will have a great and law-abiding people, but so long as these people think that they can do these things and that within a few days it will be a matter of history just so long will they perpetrate these crimes, and I am going to say to you and through you to them that the investigation shall keep up term after term until it is barred by the statute of limitations or the perpetrators of that crime shall be brought before this bar"

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Feb. 6.—Representative Dickinson of San Antonio, introduced in the house this afternoon a bill to regulate interurban public utilities, placing them under supervision of the railroad commission. Some rule of cities and towns is not affected by the bill.

REPORTED FRENCH TROOPS ADVANCE

Several persons were injured in a demonstration at Dorsten, broken up by the German police.

No details have followed the reported advance of the French in a new area 25 miles beyond the Dutch frontier into Ruhrort, where they were said to have occupied Goddehau. The move was in the direction of Mannheim, which the German government reported the French would occupy, the advices said.

HAMBORN, GERMANY, Feb. 6.—Sixty-six thousand workmen employed in the various Thyssen plants at Hamborn, Muelheim, Duisburg and Dinslaken, are working full time—three eight hour shifts a day—and have not been affected either by the railroad strike or lack of fuel.

Locomotives are busy shunting cars in the immense railroad yard of the plants. They are built around seven pit heads and are thus provided each day with sufficient coal to supply the entire works with motive power

"The French occupation has not interfered with us," is the opinion expressed at the Thyssen plants "As a matter of fact it has helped us. We were having a lot of trouble with the communist element among our workers but the French occupation and the arrest of Fritz Thyssen tired them up solidly behind us"

Many industrials in the Ruhr are in a similar situation, mining their own coal within a few hundred yards of the works. The railroad men have remained faithful to their jobs and the plants are well stocked with raw material

"The French may be able to occupy the Ruhr militarily but they will never get anything worthwhile out of it," said one of the Thyssen directors. "Our workmen are satisfied We raised their salaries 30 per cent on February 1 and they now draw 1 250 marks an hour, or 10,000 marks for an eight-hour day

"We are doing everything we can to provide food as cheaply as possible

"Our workers have received pledges of food from Holland and America which will be forthcoming should a famine occur"

As the correspondent motored through Duisburg, Ruhrort, Hamborn, Oberhausen and Muelheim he noted that most of the steel plants and mines were working but railroad yards were idle except for a few trains manned by the French.

The industrial magnates have not lost courage.

WEYGAND VIEWS RAILWAY SERVICE IS DEMORALIZED

DUESSELDORF, Feb. 6.—The return to the Ruhr of General Weygand and Minister of Public Works Le Trocquer to coordinate transportation without the employment of German labor finds the railway service demoralized and resistance generally strengthened presumably as a result of the visit of Chancellor Cuno

Railway workers and public officials, particularly, appear to have been stimulated to further sacrifices in behalf of the reich by the chancellor's call upon the occupied area.

A demonstration at Dorsten yesterday occasioned by the expulsion of the burgomaster, was broken up by the police.

Indian War Veteran Suicides in Presence of Woman He Loved

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The potter's field will be the final resting place of Chief Gabriel White Horse, full blooded Cherokee Indian and war veteran who killed himself in the crowded department store yesterday for love for a young married woman, unless some of his old buddies raise funds to send the body back to old home in Oklahoma. The body was unclaimed today in the city morgue.

Clippings from New Mexico papers found in his pockets showed that he had served with the Canadian and American forces in France and that he had been gassed and twice wounded.

When the chief, who was also known as Gabriel Hatting, returned from overseas, he obtained employment at various occupations here and finally became nightwatchman in one of the largest department stores. He fell in love with Mrs. Nedma Smith, cashier in the lunch room of the store.

Mrs. Smith admitted to the police that she had exchanged love notes with him but said she was only "kidding." Some of her letters found on his body were addressed to "My Indian Prince," "Rain-in-the-Face" and "Thundercloud" Most of them were signed, "Lovingly, Indian Moon"

The chief walked up to Mrs. Smith yesterday, said "good bye" and then fired three shots at himself. The first two went wild throwing the store's customers into confusion, but the third lodged in his heart

A number of notes to "My Indian Moon" were found in his lodging house Cops said

"Man was made to take care of women. Woman was made to drink bum beese and raise the devil"

There also was found a medal struck off for officers and men of the steamship Baltic, Florida and Republic after the sinking of the Republic and the rescue of 1500 survivors in 1909 The chief had been employed in the wireless room of the Florida.

Mrs. Smith, who had been separated from her husband, said:

"I met the chief about January 1. He liked all us girls I liked him pretty well at first but it was nothing serious, you understand. After the first two or three weeks it was more of a kidding affair than anything else I never thought he would take it seriously."

SOUTHERN STATES HOLD EDUCATIONAL MEET AT MEMPHIS

MEMPHIS, Feb 6.—Disposing of preliminaries quickly, the triangular convention of Dixie's foremost educators, agriculturists and extension workers representing 18 southern states, today tackled problems for the betterment of agriculture and education

Several representatives of Secretaries Wallace and Hoover are attending the convention, which will continue for three days.

The convention is being held in three sections—the conference of extension workers of the south, the annual session of the southern agricultural workers association, and the meeting of executives and trustees of universities and agricultural colleges

Dr A C True of Washington will be the principal speaker at the extension workers' conference today discussing the relationship of extension agents to farmers' organizations and marketing work.

J. N. Harper of Atlanta, secretary of the Agriculture Workers association, announced last night that Judge W. R. Bingham, Louisville, Ky publisher will deliver an address before that body tonight

TODAY I AM REAL WELL

So Writes Woman After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Jamestown, N.Y.—"I was nervous, easily excited and discouraged and had no ambition. Part of the time I was not able to sit up as I suffered with pains in my back and with weakness I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, both the liquid and tablet forms, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash for inflammation. Today I am real well and run a rooming house and do the work. I recommend your medicine to every woman who complains, and you may use my letter to help any one else. I am passing through the Change of Life now and I keep the Vegetable Compound in the house, ready to take when I feel the need of it."—Mrs. ALICE D. DAVIS, 208 W. Second St., Jamestown, N. Y.

Often some slight derangement may cause a general upset condition of the whole system, indicated by such symptoms as nervousness, backache, lack of ambition and general weakness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine for such troubles In many cases it has removed the cause of the trouble.

ITALY IS ROUNDING UP DISTURBING COMMUNISTS

ROME, Feb 6.—The reopening of the Italian parliament's sessions today found tranquility prevailing throughout Italy although the arrest of individuals accused of subversive tendencies is continuing in various parts of the country. These arrests were ordered in view of information obtained by the government that a plot had been organized by Italian communists in league with communistic elements in Russia, intended to spread terror throughout Italy in the hope of thus being able to bring about an anti-fascist revolutionary movement. More than 100 arrests already have been made in various parts of Italy

LEGISLATIVE NEEDS FOR REGULATION OF TRAFFIC IS OUTLINED

STATEMENT IS ISSUED BY A MEMBER OF HOUSE FROM MARSHALL

TRANSPORTATION LINES SHOULD FURNISH BOND

Would Give Railroad Commission Authority to Regulate Motor Liner

AUSTIN, Feb. [illegible] legislative needs of Texas for the regulation of motor vehicle traffic were outlined in a statement issued today by [illegible] member of the state legislature [illegible] of the state railroad commission. Chief among the recommendations of Representative [illegible] are in demand for the convenience and necessity granted by the railroad commission and giving the railroad commission authority to issue certificates regulating motor vehicle lines.

Representative [illegible] statement in part follows:

"Legislation [illegible] regulatory powers of a similar character over motor vehicle transportation has been passed by and now in effect in 26 states including the following: Arizona, California, [illegible] Illinois, Kansas, [illegible] Michigan, Ohio, Oklahoma, [illegible] Nebraska, Nevada, [illegible] Tennessee, Utah and Wisconsin. The District of Columbia, [illegible] Islands and the Philippine Islands also have enacted [illegible] commission control of motor vehicles.

"However, there are no beaten paths to lead us directly to a satisfactory [illegible] regulating legislation along this line. Consequently we are [illegible] variety of regulatory laws.

Would Require Bond

Transportation [illegible] would be required to file a bond for the protection of the traveling public against negligence resulting in personal injury or damage to property. At the present time any person can make application and put on a line. Third, [illegible] the railroad commission [illegible] requires the business [illegible] without regard to the number of operators. Some time of the [illegible] should prescribe a maximum and minimum rate [illegible] motor lines to avoid discrimination.

Referring to the [illegible] and efficient [illegible] form of protection must be provided for the transportation companies who invest their money in modern expensive equipment. A general discussion of the certificate of public necessity and convenience will not be necessary as actual experience has shown its benefits to the public in eliminating needless duplication of facilities and tending toward economy and efficiency of operation along all lines of public utility service. There is no other way in which we can encourage responsible operators, adequate equipment and reliable service. This certificate is needed more in the regulation of motor transportation than most any other lines on account of the small investment necessary for an operator to enter the transportation field. In most jurisdictions exercising regulatory powers over auto transportation the statutes require the securing of a certificate of public necessity and convenience as a prerequisite to beginning operation.

Because of damage to the highways and of the possible curtailment of rail service, a large number of citizens in many states are opposed to the operation of motor busses and trucks. Where evidence indicates that the operation of truck lines would result in damage to highways disproportionate to the benefits to be derived from the service, then as a matter of justice to the public the certificate should be refused. Many more people are in opposition to truck lines than are benefited by stage or truck service.

Process Slow and Gradual

Discussing the question of rail service against rail service, Representative Fugler said it is impossible to fix a hard and fast rule, but that each case must stand large upon its own merits. "One element which might properly be considered in determining public convenience and necessity is the popular demand for the particular service," Fugler said. "If truck and stage service are ultimately to supplant short haul rail service, the process must be slow and gradual.

"The great majority of states have vested power of regulating motor vehicle common carriers in the railroad commission. The law placing such regulation should not limit its power too much, but should be broad and elastic so as to care for extreme cases. These bodies should take notice at the outset that the task is a great one. It seems to have been the experience of commissioners who have assumed this burden that the regulation of motor vehicle traffic is approximately equal in time to all other work of the body combined.

Representative Fugler advised that the laws of the various states be considered carefully and a program of legislation worked out for Texas that will give this state benefits of the experiences of other states.

Don't be surprised if the coming dress modes reveal a Spanish motif. It's in the air. And the cause of it all is Mabel Normand who has the title role in "Suzanna," the new Mack Sennett comedy drama photoplay coming to the Strand Wednesday for the remainder of the week under an Allied Producers and Distributors corporation release. It is a romantic tale of old Mexico with beautiful Senoritas dashing caballeros and of course a wicked villian or two.

Suzanna is a beautiful story portraying the romantic lives of the historical Dons during the early days in California detailing the particular Spanish architecture of that period in which this story is laid 1830.

The customs and mannerisms also the old but attractive costuming of the Dons and Peons please as they entertain. Into this story of love romance and adventure Mr. Sennett has woven a plot—an ingenious plot to rob a beautiful child, a girl known as Suzanna, of her aristocratic parentage by placing her in the home of a peon while the child of the laborer Dolores by name is smuggled into the home of a Don and both children are raised in utter ignorance to themselves and to the world at large of the transition to beautiful womanhood.

As Suzanna Mabel Normand is ideally suited for the character. Her winsome and mischievous personality suggests that of the little tomboy girl she portrays while Wallace Bryson fills the role of Don Dolores. Carl Stockdale takes a foster parental interest in Suzanna as the character of Ruiz. Eric Mayne as Don Diego assumes the obligation of bringing up as his daughter Dolores and resents even the appearance of Suzanna not knowing her to be in reality of his own flesh and blood.

George Nichols is seen in the character of Don Bernardo, a wealthy Spanish rancher with Evelyn Sherman as his wife.

Don Fernando has a son Ramon played by Walter McGrail who is in love with Suzanna though against his parent's wishes. They have chosen Dolores [illegible] to her assumed [illegible] played by Gerry Hopper, [illegible] suitor for the hand of Suzanna while Leon Barry [illegible] of the rival shiftless type a toreador by profession and [illegible] to intention and character plays for the attention of Dolores until he learns the truth of her birthright. Minnie Hall is known for her Indian portrayals is also a member of the cast and plays her part as [illegible] the house [illegible] of the stories [illegible] landscape [illegible] call attention of Mabel Normand none perhaps but [illegible] her the wonderful possibilities to show her real true character and all it's as does Suzanna.

Invite Girls to Walk up With Winning Winks

Winsome winks [illegible] to wagge wayward winks [illegible] one wink will get any girl in town into the movies is the announcement coming from the Olympic theatre. In an effort to discover which girl in Wichita Falls has the cutest wink the Olympic theatre has arranged to take motion pictures of every girl who will appear in front of the theatre next Saturday at 1 o'clock. All she has to do is to step up to the camera and shoot her wickedest wink right into the lens where it will be registered on the film which will be projected on the screen of the Olympic theatre the last four days next week during the showing of Fast Is West.

Girls you have plenty of time in which to rehearse so get before your mirror and see just how well you can make your good right eye misbehave. The Olympic will make it well worth while for the cutest winker.

As Ming Toy heroine of Fast Is West Constance Talmadge is said to have her great role and she is one little Chink who is forever getting in Dutch on account of her wink. She thinks it is just a regular American greeting and uses it [illegible]

TRIAL OF MORSE AND THREE SONS TO START FEB. 19

WITH SON AND EIGHT OTHERS CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY.

CASE GROWS OUT OF WAR TIME CONTRACTS

Amount Involved in Alleged Conspiracy to Defraud is Forty Million.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Trial of Charles W. Morse, New York shipbuilder, his three sons and eight others on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with war time shipping contracts, which was to have begun today in the District of Columbia supreme court, was postponed until Monday, February 19.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Benjamin and Henry Morse, arrested to go to trial in Washington today with their father, Charles W. Morse, their brother, Orvin, and eight other defendants for alleged war frauds, were arrested by a department of justice agent at the Pennsylvania terminal this morning.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The first trial growing out of the investigation of alleged "war frauds" by the special grand jury here began today in the criminal division of the District of Columbia supreme court with Charles W. Morse, his three sons and eight others as defendants. They are charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States and the emergency fleet corporation through war time shipping contracts involving approximately $40,000,000.

The defendants besides Charles W. Morse, are Irvin Benjamin and Harry Morse, Colin H. Livingstone, former president of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation, George M. Cordit, attorney for the Morse interests; Nehemiah R. Campbell of New York, assistant treasurer of the United States Transport company, Inc.; Rupert Mesh, Augusta, Me., assistant treasurer of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation; W. W. Segit, Washington attorney; Philip Reinhardt, auditor for the United States emergency fleet corporation of Alexandria, Va.; Leonard D. Christie, treasurer of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation, and Robert O. White, assistant treasurer of the Groton Iron Works and president of the United Transport company, Inc.

The investigations were begun by the government in 1921, and later were conducted by the special grand jury. Two indictments were returned, both covering identical transactions and accusing the same persons. One charges a conspiracy to defraud the United States and the other a conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States by defrauding the United States shipping board.

The government's investigation into the shipbuilding operations of Morse first came to light when the department of justice asked the navy department to send a destroyer to intercept a French liner here carrying Morse to France from New York. Morse agreed to return here and he was arrested on his return.

ITALY IS ROUNDING UP DISTURBING COMMUNISTS

ROME, Feb. 5.—The reopening of the Italian parliament's sessions today found tranquility prevailing throughout Italy although the arrest of individuals accused of subversive tendencies is continuing in various parts of the country. These arrests were ordered in view of information obtained by the government that a plot had been organized by Italian communists in league with communistic elements in Russia, intended to spread terror throughout Italy in the hope of thus being able to bring about an anti-fascisti revolutionary movement. More than 100 arrests already have been made in various parts of Italy.

NEW GRAND JURY IS INVESTIGATING GOOSE CREEK CASE

JUDGE SAYS LAW MUST BE ENFORCED TO PROTECT LIBERTY.

RECENT GRAND JURY FAILED TO INDICT

Court Includes Odd Fellows, Klan and Masons in Mention of Organizations.

HOUSTON, Feb. 6.—Bearing in mind the ultimatum of Criminal District Judge C. W. Robinson issued Monday that "when mob members who whipped Mrs. R. A. Harrison and R. A. Armand of Goose Creek on January 8 have been indicted or when further investigation has been barred by the statute of limitations, then, and then only, will this county stop the inquiry into the outrage," the new grand jury of Harris county, Texas, today began efforts to throw light on the case, which the jury before was unable to do.

The judge included the Odd Fellows, Masons and Ku Klux Klan in his mention of organizations which should be investigated for proof of sanctioning whipping mobs for corrective purposes.

"The time has arrived in Texas when the laws of this country must be enforced in order to protect human liberty," Judge Robinson said in his charge.

"The grand jury that adjourned last week put in some time attempting to run down the perpetrators of the Goose Creek flogging; they totally failed.

"Now, I don't want to say that the peace officers have not tried to run down these people; I don't want to think that, but I do say this: That those men that entered that woman's house were organized; that they had from some source somebody that appointed these men to do that work, and I will tell you why I say that. You and I could not have gone to Goose Creek and got half a dozen men to go out and commit a crime of that sort without having invited at least three times the number that participated in the offense and some of the fellows invited who refused to go would give it away.

"If you can run down these crimes and teach the people of this country that the laws of this state shall not be trampled under foot with impunity, you will have a great and law-abiding people, but so long as these people think that they can do these things and that within a few days it will be a matter of history, just so long will they perpetrate these crimes, and I am going to say to you and through you to them, that the investigation shall keep up term after term until it is barred by the statute of limitations or the perpetrators of that crime shall be brought before this bar."

LEGISLATE INTERURBANS

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Feb. 6.—Representative Dielmann of San Antonio introduced in the house this afternoon a bill to regulate interurban public utilities, placing them under supervision of the railroad commission. Home rule of cities and towns is not affected by the bill.

settlement of the reparation differences.

Several persons were injured in a demonstration at Dorsten, broken up by the German police.

No details have followed the reported advance of the French in a new area 25 miles beyond the Dutch frontier into Munich, which they were said to have occupied Goddaau. The move was in the direction of Mannheim, which the German momentarily expected the French would occupy, the advices said.

HAMBORN, GERMANY, Feb. 6.—Sixty-six thousand workmen employed in the various Thyssen plants at Hamborn, Mulheim, Duisburg and Dinslaken, are working full time—three eight hour shifts a day—and have not been affected either by the railroad strike or lack of fuel.

Locomotives are busy shunting cars in the immense railroad yard of the plants. They are built around seven pit heads and are thus provided each day with sufficient coal to supply the entire works with motive power.

"The French occupation has not interfered with us," is the opinion expressed at the Thyssen plants. "As a matter of fact it has helped us. We were having a lot of trouble with the communist element among our workers but the French occupation and the arrest of Fritz Thyssen lined them up solidly behind us."

Many industries in the Ruhr are in a similar situation, mining their own coal within a few hundred yards of the works. The railroad men have remained faithful to their jobs and the plants are well stocked with raw material.

"The French may be able to occupy the Ruhr militarily but they will never get anything worthwhile out of it," said one of the Thyssen directors. "Our workmen are satisfied. We raised their salaries 33 per cent on February 1, and they now draw 1,250 marks an hour, or 10,000 marks for an eight-hour day.

"We are doing everything we can to provide food as cheaply as possible.

"Our workers have received pledges of food from Holland and America which will be forthcoming should a famine occur."

As the correspondent motored through Duisburg, Ruhort, Hamborn, Oberhausen and Muelheim he noted that about of the steel plants and mines were working but railroad yards were idle except for a few trains manned by the French.

The industrial magnates have not lost courage.

WEYGAND FINDS RAILWAY SERVICE IS DEMORALIZED

DUESSELDORF, Feb. 6.—The return to the Ruhr of General Weygand and Minister of Public Works Le Troequer to coordinate transportation without the employment of German labor finds the railway service demoralized and resistance generally strengthened presumably as a result of the visit of Chancellor Cuno.

Railway workers and public officials, particularly, appear to have been stimulated to further sacrifices in behalf of the reich by the chancellor's call upon the occupied area.

A demonstration at Dorsten yesterday occasioned by the expulsion of the burgomaster, was broken up by the police.

Indian War Veteran Suicides in Presence of Woman He Loved

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The potter's field will be the final resting place of Chief Gabriel White Horse, full blooded Cherokee Indian and war veteran who killed himself in a crowded department store yesterday for love for a young married woman, unless some of his old buddies take funds to send the body back to old home in Oklahoma. The body was unclaimed today in the city morgue.

Clippings from New Mexico papers found in his pockets showed that he had served with the Canadian and American forces in France and that he had been gassed and twice wounded.

When the chief, who was also known as Gabriel Nathaniel, returned from overseas, he obtained employment at various occupations here and finally became nightwatchman in one of the largest department stores. He fell in love with Mrs. Nelma Smith, cashier in the lunch room of the store.

Mrs. Smith admitted to the police that she had exchanged love notes with him but said she was only "kidding." Some of her letters found on his body were addressed to "My Indian Prince," "Rain-in-the-Face," and "Thundercloud." Most of them were signed, "Lovingly, Indian Moon."

The chief walked up to Mrs. Smith yesterday, said "good bye" and then fired three shots at himself. The first two went wild, throwing the store's customers into confusion, but the third lodged in his heart.

A number of notes to "My Indian Moon" were found in his lodging house. One said:

"Man was made to take care of woman. Woman was made to drink bum beers and raise the devil."

There also was found a medal struck off for officers and men of the steamships Baltic, Florida and Republic, after the sinking of the Republic and the rescue of 1,500 survivors in 1909. The chief had been employed in the wireless room of the Florida.

Mrs. Smith, who had been "separated from her husband, said:

"I met the chief about January 1. He liked all us girls. I liked him pretty well at first but it was nothing serious, you understand. After the first two or three weeks it was more of a kidding affair than anything else. I never thought he would take it seriously."

MAKE APPLICATION FOR COMMUTATION OF JAIL SENTENCE FOR HOWAT

PITTSBURGH, KAN., Feb. 6.—Formal application for commutation of the sentence to Alexander Howat, deposed president of Kansas union miners, who is serving a six months sentence in the Cherokee county jail for violation of the Kansas industrial court law, was today laid before Governor Jonathan M. Davis in Topeka, it was announced by Phil H. Callary, attorney for Howat.

SOUTHERN STATES HOLD EDUCATIONAL MEET AT MEMPHIS

MEMPHIS, Feb. 6.—Disposing of preliminaries quickly, the triangular convention of Dixie's foremost educators, agriculturists and extension workers representing 18 southern states today tackled problems for the betterment of agriculture and education.

Several representatives of Secretaries Wallace and Hoover are attending the convention, which will continue for three days.

The convention is being held in three sections—the conference of extension workers of the south, the annual session of the southern agricultural workers' association, and the meeting of executives and trustees of universities and agricultural colleges.

Dr. A. C. True of Washington will be the principal speaker at the extension workers' conference today discussing the relationship of extension agents to farmers' organizations and marketing work.

J. H. Harper of Atlanta, secretary of the Agriculture Workers' association, announced last night that Judge W. R. Bingham, Louisville, Ky., publisher, will deliver an address before that body tonight.

TODAY I AM REAL WELL
So Writes Woman After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Jamestown, N.Y.—"I was nervous, easily excited and discouraged and had no ambition. Part of the time I was not able to sit up as I suffered with pains in my back and with weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, both the liquid and tablet forms, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash for inflammation. Today I am real well and run a rooming house and do the work. I recommend your medicine to every woman who complains, and you may use my letter to help any one else. I am passing through the Change of Life now and I keep the Vegetable Compound in the house, ready to take when I feel the need of it."—Mrs. ALICE D. DAVIS, 208 W. Second St., Jamestown, N. Y.
Often some slight derangement may cause a general upset condition of the whole system, indicated by such symptoms as nervousness, backache, lack of ambition and general weakness.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine for such troubles. In many cases it has removed the cause of the trouble.

LEGISLATIVE NEEDS FOR REGULATION OF TRAFFIC IS OUTLINED

STATEMENT IS ISSUED BY A MEMBER OF HOUSE FROM MARSHALL.

TRANSPORTATION LINES SHOULD FURNISH BOND

Would Give Railroad Commission Authority to Regulate Motor Liner.

AUSTIN, Feb. 5.—Legislative needs of Texas for the regulation of motor vehicle traffic were outlined in a statement issued today by V. D. Fugler of Marshall, member of the state legislature and chairman of the house committee on railroads. Chief among the recommendations of Representative Fugler are indemnity bonds covering losses of public convenience and necessity granted by the railroad commission and giving the railroad commission authority to issue rules regulating motor vehicle lines.

Representative Fugler's statement in part follows:

"Legislation conferring regulatory powers of some character over motor vehicle transportation has been passed by and now is in effect in 24 states including the following: Arizona, California, Colorado, Georgia, Illinois, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Nebraska, Nevada, Tennessee, Utah and Washington. The District of Columbia, Hawaiian Islands and Philippine Islands also have enacted similar laws of common carrier character.

"[illegible] there are no beaten paths to lead us directly to a state in designing legislation covering this line of service, yet we can learn much from the variety of regulatory laws.

Would Require Bond

"Transportation companies should be required to furnish a bond to the state, payable to the traveling public, in an amount general sufficient to cover any injury or damage to property or the person, and permit the state to make a small payment [illegible] the state. Under the terms of such bond, the state would be protected against any legislation which would result in injury to the public, and would be a guarantee against loss to the state.

"[illegible] without [illegible] of operation of the volume of traffic. Stations should be at the minimum and minimum at the [illegible] discretion.

"Before we can have safe, reliable and efficient motor [illegible] form of protection must be provided for the transportation companies who invest their money in modern expensive equipment. A general discussion of the certificate of public necessity and convenience will not be necessary as actual experience has shown its benefits to the public by eliminating needless duplication of facilities and tending toward economy and efficiency of operation along all lines of public utility service. There is no other way in which we can encourage responsible operators adequate equipment and stable service. This certificate is needed more in the regulation of motor transportation than most any other lines on account of the small investment necessary for an operator to enter the transportation field. In most jurisdictions exercising regulatory powers over auto transportation the statutes require the securing of a certificate of public necessity and convenience as a prerequisite to beginning operation.

"Because of damage to the highways and of the possible curtailment of rail service, a large number of citizens in many states are opposed to the operation of motor busses and trucks. Where evidence indicates that the operation of truck lines would result in damage to highways disproportionate to the benefits to be derived from the service, then as a matter of justice to the public the certificate should be refused. Many more people are in convenient of railroad roads who are benefited by stage or truck service."

Process Slow and Gradual.

Discussing the question of competition against rail service, Representative Fugler said it is impossible to follow any set rule, but that each case must stand large upon its own merits. "One element which might properly be considered in determining public convenience and necessity is the popular demand for the particular service. Fugler said. "If truck and stage service are ultimately to supplant short haul rail service, the process must be slow and gradual.

"The great majority of states have vested power of regulating motor vehicle common carriers in the railroad commission. The law placing such regulation should not limit its power too much, but should be broad and elastic so as to care for extreme cases. These bodies should take notice at the outset that the task is a great one. It seems to have been the experience of commissioners who have assumed this burden that the regulation of motor vehicle traffic is approximately equal in time to all other work of the body combined.

Representative Fugler advised that the laws of the various states be considered carefully and a program of legislation worked out for Texas that will give this state benefit of the experiences of other states.

Don't be surprised if the coming dress modes reveal a Spanish motif. It is in the air. And the cause of it all is Mabel Normand, who has the title role in "Suzanna," the new Mack Sennett comedy drama photoplay coming to the Strand Wednesday for the remainder of the week under an Allied Producers and Distributors corporation release. It is a romantic tale of old Mexico with beautiful Senoritas, dashing cavaliers and of course a wicked villain or two.

Suzanna is a beautiful story portraying the romantic lives of the historical Dons during the early days in California, detailing the particular Spanish architecture of that period in which this story is laid, 1830.

The customs and mannerisms, also the old but attractive costuming of the Dons and Peons please as they entertain. Into this story of love romance and adventure Mr. Sennett has woven a plot—an ingenious plot to rob a beautiful child, a girl known as Suzanna, of her aristocratic parentage by placing her in the home of a peon while the child of the laborer, Dolores by name, is smuggled into the home of a Don and both children are raised in utter ignorance to themselves and to the world at large of the transition to beautiful womanhood.

As Suzanna Mabel Normand is ideally suited for the character. Her winsome and mischievous personality suggests that of the little tomboy girl she portrays, while Winifred Bryson fills the role of Dolores. Carl Stockdale takes a foster parental interest in Suzanna in the character of Ruiz. Eric Mayne as Don Diego assumes the obligation of bringing up as his daughter Dolores and resents even the appearance of Suzanna not knowing her to be in reality of his own flesh and blood.

George Nichols is seen in the character of Don Fernando, a wealthy Spanish rancher, with Evelyn Sherman as his wife.

Don Fernando has a son Ramon played by Walter McGrail who is in love with Suzanna, though against his parents' wishes. They have chosen Dolores for a bride to her assumed father, to be played by George Cooper, as another suitor for the hand of Suzanna, while Leon Lavere, friend of the young shiftless type, a toreador by profession and unknown to his intention and character, plays for the attention of Dolores and he learns the truth of her situation. Minnie Ha Ha, Indian servant known for her Indian rituals, is also a member of the household, her part as servant in the house of the stories of aristocratic specialists written for Mabel Normand, none perhaps has called for her wonderful possibilities to show her real true character and acting as does Suzanna.

Invite Girls to Walk up With Winning Winks

Winsome winks are to wage a wayward winks. One wink will get any girl in town into the movies is the announcement coming from the Olympic theatre. In an effort to discover which girl in Wichita Falls has the cutest wink the Olympic theatre has arranged to take motion pictures of every girl who will appear in front of the theatre next Saturday at 11 o'clock. All she has to do is to step up to the camera and shoot her wickedest wink right into the lens where it will be registered on the film which will be projected on the screen of the Olympic theatre the last four days next week during the showing of "East is West."

Girls, you have plenty of time in which to rehearse so get before your mirror and see just how well you can make your good right eye misbehave. The Olympic will make it well worth while for the cutest winker.

As Ming Toy, heroine of "East is West," Constance Talmadge is said to have her greatest role and she is one little Chink who is forever getting in Dutch on account of her wink. She thinks it is just a regular American greeting and uses it on all occasions. Of course [illegible] "Ming Toy don't want to be Chinese girl—got nothing China—don't think China—don't feel China—don't know why for Hell God ever put me in China."

PLAN YOUR VALENTINE PARTY

By MARIAN HALE

It's not too soon to plan your valentine party

St Valentine's is one of the most popular holidays in the year for entertaining It is well to plan for it in advance and send out your invitations early

There are many novelties in invitations—small red hearts that fit into heart shaped envelopes or white cards decorated with hearts or cupids with the invitation completely worded save for the names

Those who like to write their own invitations will find all shapes sizes and colors of stationery and hearts and cupids cut out and gummed waiting to be added

Make Pretty Invitations.

Old-fashioned valentines with lace paper and sentimental verses, make appropriate invitations so do the old comics

The valentine party rarely takes the form of a masquerade but the hostess usually plans caps and favors for the guests to give a festive air to the event

Almost any kind of crepe paper can be made highly decorative by adding long tassels of fringe at either side

Heart shapes of cardboard with a frill of red crepe paper fringing about the rock on a ribbon are effective and easily made

The jazz bracelet is a novelty consisting of a ribbon to be worn about the wrist with long red and white crepe paper streamers

Styles in Dress

Huge cardboard and crepe paper fans hung with fringe and hearts and red paper sashes with white hearts will make any costume look quite festive while girdles or full skirts of red fringed paper on the order of the Hawaiian costume worn over a white dress, affect a quick transformation

Naturally red is the prevailing color at a valentine party but various effects may be gained by using from deep red into rose or pink Or pink or rose may be used instead of the red if the variety prefers

Progressive Dinner Party Honors Mrs. Ola Hamlin Monday Evening

One of the most delightfully planned and original compliments of the whole winter social season among the affairs of an informal nature which are the most enjoyable of all was the progressive dinner party tendered Mrs. Ola G Hamlin Monday evening by a group of friends in the First Christian church

The party began when Mrs Hamlin accepting an invitation to dinner at the home of Mr and Mrs R E Strange, was surprised by a score of friends immediately after the arrival, and found covers at the beautifully appointed table laid for a score or more Place cards which were pink rose cards, and the other decorations were in pink and white and a fruit cocktail was served As the guest of honor sat waiting for the next course to appear she was again surprised when the remainder of the party began preparations to depart. The surprise of the whole delightful plan was "let out" then and the guests hurried to the home of Mr and Mrs Wayne Holmes on Elizabeth street for the second course Here a delightful bouillon was served with Valentine decorations prettily carried out in the dining room and in the table appointments, with more place cards in the season's colors From Mr and Mrs Holmes the party went to Mr and Mrs R B Shepherds and Mrs Shepherd and Mrs W R Duke were hostesses for the dinner course—creamed chicken in patty shells sweet potatoes buttered peas rolls and hot buttered rolls The dining room and living room lights showered red Valentine balloons which were turned loose and very informally chased by the dignified grown-ups after the dinner service Mr and Mrs. Lambreth Hancock were the next host and hostess and served a dainty Valentine salad at their pretty home with dining room and table appointments in the season's colours again

To cap the surprise most interestingly the guest of honor found herself being taken to her own home where Mesdames Grady England and Glenn Williams, her daughters had prepared the dessert course at a birthday table in celebration as the whole progressive dinner was of her birthday this week A lovely birthday cake centred the table with a group of candles atop discreetly numbering sixteen A big box of candy was at Mrs. Hamlin's cover and the two young hostesses served "Heavenly Hash in pretty fruit glasses. The last trip—since no dinner is complete without coffee—was to Dr and Mrs Keevil's home, where Mrs. Keevil served the guests at quartette tables lighted with Valentine candles in crystal candlesticks White coffee and red and white mints were being enjoyed Dr Keevil presented Mrs Hamlin with a handsome Rookwood scene in behalf of her friends and she responded very charmingly and appreciatively

Those who planned and enjoyed the party included Dr and Mrs Keevil Messrs and Mesdames Lambreth Hancock J W Pond W R Duke E L Shepherd Wayne Holmes Leslie Grady England and Strange Mesdames Hamlin and Glenn Williams and Messrs Frederic and Harold Hamlin

HOW YOU CAN HELP YOUR COMPLEXION

The very first thing that is observed by the other person when he looks at you is your face

You are either red or pasty alive keen alert or negative

Your eyes may be the windows of your soul but you can frighten these windows

Your hair nose mouth chin and your entire face are expressions of the care you take

Your nose is expressive of the way you breathe It is impossible to breathe deeply and have small nostrils It is impossible to breathe deeply and be lacking in energy

Your mouth should emit the sweetness that belongs to a beautiful character and your chin too should be strong so that you will have all the fundamental principles of charm before we try to correct the defects of complexion

If you are too fat—and sometimes this is an indication of poor health—there are very simple exercises that you can take and certain foods you must go without so that you can reduce

If you are a little underweight you should eat of the foods that the fat person can not allowed and also exercise thus you can increase your weight

We are worried about little wrinkles that form unless we know how to prevent them or remove them and if we are worried we can not be charming

Smile to lift the muscles of the face that is one of the best exercises to use from frowning or worry etc We use these muscles to droop and that above everything else we must not do

There is nothing more attractive than a clean healthy complexion with preservation and that once every woman can right conditions that make it so look unselfishly

If we will breathe properly we will be doing much to keep our health and perfection good condition

Which brings us to the subject of the pores and their relation to our health which will be treated in my next article

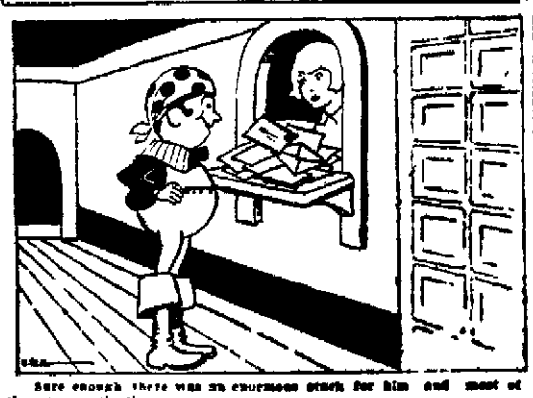
ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
BUSKIN'S VALENTINE
By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON



Sure enough there was an enormous stack for him and most of them were valentines

The next fairy to come to the hickory tree was Buskins little fairy

He ran the elevator up to the sky and knew everybody up there so, of course he had got a great many letters

Sure enough there was an enormous stack for him and most of them were valentines

The first one he opened was from a kite in Kiteland Buskins read it to Nancy and Nick and Mr. Stamps, the postman.

"I like to fly up in the sky
And hope to see you bye and bye.
I'm tied tight to a piece of twine,
Lest yet I'll be your valentine."

The next was from a balloon in Balloon Land

"I'm light as air and very hollow
But where you go I'll always follow,
I love you last I love you first,
With love for you I'll surely burst"

Buskins laughed I hope not," he said. "That would be dreadfull"

The next valentine the apple tree fairy opened was from a soap bubble in Soap Bubble Land

"Nice little fairy man
Try and catch me if you can,
When I roll up to the sky,
I'll blow a kiss as I pass by"

"That's a pretty one, too," said Buskins "My oh my! I never knew I had so many friends"

Then he opened another

It was from the dandelion fairy up in Thistletown Land. It went:

"I am fleecy and white,
Though my flower was yellow,
I fly to the sky
With my little umbrella
Now Buskins wont you
Be my valentine? Do!
If you're caught in the rain,
I have quite room for two."

"That's very kind, little friend," said the apple tree fairy "Sometime I may accept your kind invitation."

IMPROVEMENTS OF EXTENSIVE NATURE PLANNED FOR CITY

INCLUDE INSTALLATION OF 10,000,000 GALLON PUMPING UNIT.

PLAN FOR DOWNTOWN CITY ALARM SYSTEM

Also Discuss Paving of Ten Blocks On Polk and Taylor Streets.

Improvements of a varied and extensive nature to be included in the 1923 budget were proposed at the meeting of the city council Monday afternoon. Although no definite action was taken on any of the proposals, the commissioners were asked to consider the installation of an initial pumping unit of 10,000,000 gallons, a city alarm system of 25 bells for public safety in case of fire or other emergencies and the paving of 10 blocks on Polk and Taylor streets.

Burton Stayton, commissioner of public utilities, called attention of the council to a statement from F. M. Lawton, superintendent of the city water works, declaring that the requirements of the city for water were beyond the capacity of the present pumping equipment.

Acting on the suggestion of Mr. Lawton, Mr. Stayton asked the council to consider the purchase of an initial pumping unit of 10,000,000 gallon capacity. It was shown by charts and figures submitted by the commissioner that the average daily consumption of water during the four summer months was 6,500,000 gallons. This figure does not include the requirements during fire when an extra demand is made upon the pumping equipment.

Last season when the plant was carrying its peak load it was stated that the capacity of the two—2,000,000 and the 3,000,000 gallon pumps was overtaxed. Mr. Lawton stated that he had been warned by the state fire insurance officials that unless a more satisfactory arrangement was made that the city would be penalized by an increase in fire insurance rates.

A communication from the insurance department was read promising a reduction in the present rates which would amount to approximately $6,000 annually to policy holders, if the suggested improvements are made in the city plants. It is estimated that the new pump can be purchased and installed for an expenditure of $6,614. It was stated that funds were available in the city water department for the purchase of the necessary addition.

No action was taken at the Monday meeting, the matter was brought up in order to allow the aldermen time for investigation. It is expected that some action will be taken at an early date, with immediate action the pump will be installed in June in time to relieve the situation by summer.

Police Commissioner Fitts asked the council to consider a plan which he has worked out and investigated for the installation of alarm bells at Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth streets, intersection of Ohio, Indiana, Scott, Lamar, Travis, Austin and Farrell. The proposed system calls for the installation of 25 bells to be operated from the fire alarm office.

Recent accidents caused by the failure of autoists to hear the fire alarm provoked the suggestion. It is the belief of the police commission that the bell system would make it possible to clear the streets for fire and police vehicles in time of fire or distress and reduce the number of accidents to a minimum. The system could also be used to notify police in case of an emergency when all the force was needed.

It is estimated that the system can be installed for $[illegible], the cost of installation it is said could be saved in one year by the reduction in the fire and police force.

On account of the financial condition of the city the suggestion was held over until the 1923 budget is prepared. It will be brought up again at that time.

It was announced at the council meeting that paving on Polk and Taylor streets was being agitated and that the petition for certain blocks had been prepared and would be presented for action in the near future. The present plan included the paving of seven blocks on Taylor and three or four blocks on Polk. A local paving company is fostering the movement and the petition will be completed and submitted to the council at an early date.

Monday was the date set for the open hearing on ordinance 420, no objections were offered to the granting of the franchise for the extension of the traction company tracks to the new junior college. The ordinance was held over until the next meeting. Ordinance 4[illegible] closing an alley in Floral Heights addition was passed to its third reading without protest.

A petition to operate a grocery and drug store on Broad between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets was presented to the council. An open hearing was called at which time property owners will be given the opportunity to offer objections to the store at that point.

MERCURY SLUMPS WHEN JACK FROST PAINTS PICTURES

The mercury hit the skids during the night Monday and while Jack Frost was out painting his pictures on trees, meadows and streams the the thermometer registered the lowest mark of the year. Just before sunrise Tuesday morning the temperature had fallen to 18 degrees.

Following the snow of Monday which varied in depth from one to three inches, the skies cleared off and the wind returned to the north west.

At all points along railroads leading into the city exceptionally low thermometer readings were reported Tuesday morning.

Clear skies were reported from all directions and with the sun coming out bright and warm in the early hours of the day it was evident that the thermometer would experience quite a rise before sun set.

PRESIDENT EXPECTED TO SUBMIT SETTLEMENT TO CONGRESS WEDNESDAY

WASHINGTON Feb. 6.—President Harding decided today to postpone until tomorrow at least his message to congress asking for modification of the debt funding law to permit final approval of the funding settlement recently negotiated with Great Britain.

It was said at the white house that no definite time had been fixed for transmission of the president's recommendations which generally had been expected to go forward today. It was indicated however that the message would be sent to the capital as soon as further conferences with leaders in the senate and house had established what form of amendment of the law would be least likely to meet with serious opposition.

Those who conferred with Mr. Harding on the subject during the day predicted that he would be ready to act by tomorrow afternoon and that he would send his statement to the capital by messenger instead of appearing personally to deliver it at a joint session.

During the drafting of his views for submission to congress to which he was said to have devoted most of the day yesterday, the president held numerous conferences with administration leaders from the capitol with whom he is understood to have advised as to the most acceptable form in which to present the matter for legislative action. Administration leaders were confident today that its merits would be so revealed in discussion as to assure its approval.

HOLD NEGRO ON CHARGE OF BURGLARIZING HOUSE

Lewis Robertson, negro was held Tuesday morning on a charge of burglary. It is charged that he entered a negro servant's house and appropriated some goods to his own use and benefit. It is alleged that he broke open a door in order to gain admittance. He made a statement to officials Tuesday morning and he was returned to jail.

COUNTY WILL BUY TWO LOADAMETERS TO WEIGH TRUCKS

COMMISSIONERS TAKE STEPS TO STOP HEAVY HAULING ON ROADS.

WILL EMPLOY ONE ROAD SUPERINTENDENT SOON

Court Late Monday Afternoon Decide to Make Limit Four Instead of Three Tons.

Wichita county will buy two loadameters as soon as County Auditor E. P. Walsh can advertise for bids. This action was taken late Monday afternoon by the county commissioners who have decided that the heavy hauling on the county's paved roads must stop.

As soon as these two machines can be purchased and delivered a road superintendent will be employed whose duty it will be to enforce the law regulating the size loads that can be carried over the roads of the county.

It was the consensus of opinion of the court Monday afternoon that the weight limit of trucks be raised from three tons to four tons. The state highway law permits the hauling of four tons across paved roads but there are certain rules regarding the width of the tires that must be considered.

Judge J. D. Sartin stated at the close of the session of the court Monday evening that the court would employ at least one road superintendent but that if it was seen that one man could not regulate the hauling on the roads that another one would be employed to assist him.

A loadameter, according to the county officers is an apparatus that weighs and registers the weight of a truck while it can be easily conveyed over the roads and is so equipped that a truck can be jacked up and weighed without the loss of much time.

This system was invoked on the paved road between Fort Worth and Dallas immediately after the completion of this highway. The rule was made that trucks that were found to be overloaded were forced to yield a portion of the load along side of the road so that the load remaining came within the limit of the state highway laws.

The statute has fixed a penalty in cases where trucks are carrying more than the maximum amount allowed under the statute.

SWEET CLOVER IS MOST VALUABLE AS PASTURE FOR STOCK

M. B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad company, who has been greatly interested in sweet clover for the past few years advises that sweet clover should be planted in February and in a bulletin issued points out the value of a pasture of sweet clover.

He states that the advantages of sweet clover as a pasture crop are late grazing in fall, drought resistance, high feeding value, early spring grazing after the first year and last that it does not cause cattle to bloat.

In his bulletin Mr. Oates points out specific instances in this district as to the value received from sweet clover pastures during the past year.

Men who have had the sweet clover pasture state that it will feed two cows per acre from March 1 to June 30 and one cow per acre from July 1 to October.

One farmer had thirty acres last year and he pastured 1[illegible] hogs, 80 [illegible] and eight cows.

COURT DISCUSSES ADDING ASSISTANT JUVENILE OFFICER

County commissioners in session late Monday afternoon discussed the advisability of employing an assistant county juvenile officer to help W. G. Bradley in his work.

Several officials residing out of the city of Wichita Falls had suggested to various members of the court that an assistant is needed as they feel that the juvenile officer has all the duties that he can attend to in Wichita Falls.

No definite action was taken on the matter by the court Monday except that the out of town commissioners were instructed to ascertain whether their constituents thought it necessary to employ the services of an assistant who shall devote his duties it would be to attend to juvenile matters in the outlying districts of the county.

The commissioners will submit the matter at the next weekly meeting at which time the matter will be disposed of.

TWENTY CASES DISPOSED OF BY JUDGE GUY ROGERS

Judge Guy Rogers of the county court at law called his appearance docket Tuesday morning marking the opening of a new term of court. Over twenty cases were disposed of. Judgments by default were taken in the majority of instances while several cases were dismissed on settlement having been effected out of court.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The soul of the sluggard desireth, and hath nothing: but the soul of the diligent shall be made fat.—Prov. 17:14.

Sloth makes all things difficult, but industry all things easy.—Benjamin Franklin.

PROPOSED CHANGES IN THE TEXAS ELECTION LAW.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature providing for changes in the primary election law. One provision would require poll tax payers to give their party affiliation in making application for a poll tax receipt. Another would make it an offense punishable by fine and imprisonment to participate in any primary election and at the succeeding election to vote for other candidates than the nominees of the primary in which the voter participated. A third provision would prevent injunctions keeping names off the ballot while an appeal was pending. Grand juries would be given the right to have ballot boxes brought before them and be opened for the purpose of investigation.

Neither good nor harm can be seen in the provision requiring the poll tax applicant to give his party affiliation. It might be useful in preventing members of one party from participating in the primaries and conventions of another. That is a practice that ought to be outlawed and in-so-far as the provision for a fine and imprisonment for voting in the primary of one party and voting for the nominee of another party in the election is directed against this practice the latter provision is good, but the door of conscientious duty and good citizenship and the right of protest ought not to be closed against any citizen. Sometimes duty and citizenship and the right of protest point toward a vote for a candidate of an opposition ticket. And sometimes a protest is a good thing for the party itself. The effect of the provision defying the right of protest would be to strengthen ring rule where it already exists and to make it possible where it does not now exist.

The recent election in which injunctions threatened to keep the name of the democratic nominee from the ballot revealed a danger that calls for remedy. It ought not to be possible for anyone to go into a district court anywhere in the state on the eve of an election and obtain an injunction which, even while on appeal, would keep the names of candidates from the ballot. The proposed change is aimed to prevent this and some such change ought to be made. Let us not have a repetition of the "injunction" siege experienced in the last campaign.

The secrecy of the ballot ought to be maintained. Even a grand jury ought not to have the right to open up the ballot boxes at its own caprice and will. There are circumstances under which the grand jury ought to have this right but it ought to be restricted.

It is probably too much to expect that the present legislature will change the election law so as not to operate to stifle a minority party in Texas. As democrats we do not seem to be big enough to want to give the republicans a show. The law operated in the recent election to prevent the names of the republican nominees from going on the ballot. The law was designed to force the republicans to do a thing that was highly impractical for a minority party whenever it began to show strength, and that was to force it to nominate its candidates by a primary. There are many democrats who believe strongly in their party staying on top but who would much rather see their party keep this position fairly than to employ an unfair advantage. Some day this spirit may be manifested in an election law fairer to a minority party.

CAN YOU INVENT?

Ever try to invent anything? Or dream you invented something that made the dollar bills come down like paper snow in an old time Lincoln J. Carter melodrama?

Well, then, you would find it interesting to attend the international exposition of inventions to be held in New York City at the Grand Central Palace, February 16-23.

Advance notices of the unique devices that will be exhibited make us marvel at the vast resourcefulness of the human mind. One inventor has an automatic typewriter eraser. Another has a mechanical chimney sweep. About everything possible seems to have been attempted by the exhibitors. One fellow even promises to bring an 'airplane barge—if there's a big enough door to get it into the building.

Auto shows, by charging admission, introduced something new into the business world—making people pay to look into the show windows. Who knows but what the idea will be developed until the public has to pay admission to get into stores?

We hope the inventors charge sufficient entrance fee to provide a nestegg for each of them. An inventor usually needs it. As a rule, the profits from an invention are reaped by the people who create a sales market. Emerson said that if you make a better mouse trap the world will beat a path to your door. That was fine big talk. But it was bokum—as every inventor learns when he starts trying to market his invention.

A good feature of this New York exposition is that it will bring together the inventors and the men with idle capital who are looking for something to promote. Henry Ford, recalling the trouble he had getting capital interested in his "gasoline buggy," will sigh and wish there'd been such a get-together meeting when he was a young man.

Your Simon pure inventor used to be a jack-of-all-trades, with perpetual motion as his goal. He began getting more practical after Uncle Sam announced that he'd no longer even consider applications for patents on so-called perpetual motion machines.

Running our eye over the list of inventions to be displayed in New York, we are struck by the fact that—with only a few exceptions—the devices are highly practical in nature.

It's a good thing that the great human inventive force is flowing along practical lines. Nothing we use is anyways near perfection. Most of our devices are not more than 10 per cent efficient. You are reminded of this when you notice that most of the furnace heat goes up the chimney. Perfection of a furnace that would utilize even three-fourths of the heat would be worth more to the steam age than a perpetual motion machine.

Salutations, you inventors! You are the leaders who are pulling civilization higher and higher. Your inventions make possible the existence of arts, higher sciences and personal leisure time.

SENATOR HEFLIN BLAMES THE REPORTERS.

Senator Heflin, of Alabama, whose remarks during a debate in the senate a few days ago were ordered expunged from the Congressional Record, in breathing words of fire against the "subsidized press" and threatens to move for the expulsion of correspondents from the press gallery of the senate.

It appears that the correspondents have offended the fiery Alabamian by reporting too exactly and literally what he said during his speech and by terming the senate action in ordering his speech expunged a "rebuke."

Senator Heflin is not unlike some other public men in trying to blame on the newspapers his own mistakes. Words often look differently to the speaker in cold print and read in sober reason than when uttered in the smoke of verbal conflict and the heat of passion. When the speaker reads them so and when the consequences of his rashness begin to bear upon him, it is indeed a big man who can take his medicine and who will not charge the reporters with distortion. Senator Heflin hasn't measured up to bigness.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THINK!

Half of our troubles would melt away if we only took the time to think.

For most of our troubles come and most of our mistakes are made either because we fail to think or because we think wrongly.

And thinking wrongly is usually thinking too quickly.

Think!

What a common excuse "Oh, I never thought of that!"

Few right-minded people deliberately do things to hurt other people, and yet a large number of us do hurt other people repeatedly—because we do not think. And how hard it is to repair damage after damage is done.

If on arising in the morning you say to yourself: "I am going to think this day through," just imagine what a successful day it would be sure to be.

There is nothing truer than the old adage "The more haste, the less speed." But it is just as important to take deliberation and think as it is to deliberate and act. Thought is behind action always—or at least it should be.

Think!

Whatever you do that is great and enduring you may be well assured in advance that proper thinking has made it so. Time goes so quickly. We economize when it comes to our money—and often we economize when it comes to our time, but we should not economize at the expense of properly thinking out every plan and action.

Think—in advance!

JUST FOLKS —By— Edgar A. Guest

KIRBY, THE FLOWER FRIEND.

Kirby loves roses and pansies and phlox,
Kirby loves poppies and asters and stocks,
And his days and his weeks are all wrapped up in bloom
And scented and sweet with an orchard perfume
The dark may be dark and the snow coming down
But Kirby brings blossoms of summer to town

I trudged through the snow to my office today
As heavy of heart as the low skies were gray;
Life was cheerless outside and was dreary within
I was weary of winter—then Kirby dropped in,
Dropped in just to tell of a new rose he'd found
And the snowflakes were petals of bloom on the ground

I forgot it was winter, I ceased being glum,
I was out in my garden, for summer had come;
Out there with poppies and pansies and phlox,
Planning a space for some new hollyhocks,
Putting in roses to grow with the old,
For no day with Kirby is dreary and cold

The breath of the summer came into us there,
The skies had turned blue and the garden was fair,
The trellis was heavy with blossoms of red,
The new rose already had bloomed in its bed,
And though past my window the snow flurried down,
Kirby and summer had slipped into town

THE TREADMILL

By NEA Service

No, Rollo this pen-drawing by Artist Satterfield does not illustrate a new way of making corn liquor.

However humor is not lacking in the picture as you study the antiquated treadmill. In these days when power work on the farm is so generally done by gasoline engine, the treadmill seems almost laughably old fashioned.

Yet it is not many generations since the treadmill was a scientific marvel and the main source of power displacing human slaves.

Our present generators of power—steam, gasoline and electricity—will seem equally old-fashioned later on when man will get their power by harnessing the ocean tides and the wind and by releasing the terrific energy locked up in atoms.

Can horses think? Many believe so. If they are right the old horse working on the treadmill is saving to himself: What a futile monotonous life I have—forever galloping forward and never getting anywhere. Day after day I lead the same existence a horse-some grind doing the same old thing over and over. How much better it I could get out and gallop in the pasture visible yonder through the door.

The patient plodding horse is mistaken. He does get somewhere. For by his monotonous galloping he is making the treadmill revolve. That in turn operates the belt that keeps the chopping mill going, grinding corn and cob into feed.

Most of us are in the same predicament. But our work is never futile. We may seem to get nowhere with our plodding but we are invaluable to civilization because our treadmill helps keep the big economics machine going. Gid dap.

'S Funny How This Little Game Retains Its Popularity

VAL of PARADISE

These strangers came in unobtrusively and stood in a bunch somewhat close together. There were nine of them all clad in good garments the best that money could buy in a wider market than the rangeland owned. Their soft fine boots were stitched in colors, their hats were very wide and ornamented with much silver after the fashion of their kind across the line.

They stood quietly and watched the dancers and in their midst stood one who was of a different mold. Tall slim fine of feature and form smiling his reckless face a sparkle with the joy of youth in music and motion this man was not so guardedly alert and he carried his hat in his hand. Thick black hair waved back from a handsome brow white with the bleach of the sweatband sign manual of him who rides much in the open.

His blue eyes under thel black lashes roved over the dancers with a bright bold glance.

As the couples drifted out again Lolo Sanchez a living flower in her black and scarlet came down the room in the arms of a big blond boy her small face upturned her coquette a heart playing the old game in her dusky eyes.

And then—the boy swung her past the door and she looked up [illegible] the smiling face of the strangers.

Velantrie—she breathed to herself.

"What?" asked the boy but she did not hear.

From that moment she forgot him utterly.

When the dance ended Lolo stopped as if by accident—something about the tiny slipper that encased her light foot—went and straightened it—close by the door. As she rose, quick as a willow wand released she looked into Velantrie's eyes and her own were eloquent.

Master! she murmured in Spanish so low that none but he caught the soft word.

Who is chan by th' door? the blond boy asked suspiciously but Lolo looked up innocently.

Which one? she asked and the suspicion died.

The newcomers did not dance. They had come because Velantrie gave the word because he chose to look upon Santa Leandra at her merry-making and that was all.

Velantrie did not dance either. There was none whom he knew up on the floor save and except the small girl who called him master and he only smiled with amusement as he watched her.

Rosita Sanchez's quick little brain was working and she meant to change that very soon. Therefore she sent the least of her followers a week brown Mexican urchin peekin in the crowd to whisper something in the fiddler's ear.

And then the music stopped the crowds drifted to the benches and the fiddler was tuning his fiddle to another key.

He picked the fiddle in his neck and began abruptly to play—and no one called this number.

Wild swift beautiful music it was Spanish to the core.

It [illegible] and at regular intervals there came in the music a bass that sounded like a [illegible] upon the floor. And the girl swift like a leaf [illegible] in a wind Lolo Sanchez came [illegible] the floor alone. From somewhere as if by magic she [illegible] a pair of castanets and these began to snap and click as her [illegible] her head [illegible] she was a beautiful thing [illegible] small [illegible] her lithe body bent and swayed whirled and dipped and circled like a flame in the breeze. Step—whirl—bend—ha [illegible] castanets clicking [illegible] the long room [illegible] its for [illegible] and came drifting up along the other side. Necks were craned [illegible] drawn back to give her room for she was dancing close. And then suddenly it seemed she was opposite Velantrie where he stood beside the door.

Out to the center she went as if she spurned the crowd then swift as a whipped thing she darted toward him throw back her little head smiled area right in his eyes and held out her hands palms up.

It was a challenge direct daring proud.

For one second the man hesitated. Then he tossed his broad hat to those behind sprang forward and caught those outstretched hands.

Lolo's eyes were liquid light as she drew him into the clear [illegible] snatched her hands away tossed them above her head and began to dance in earnest. The stranger too began to dance and those who watched saw instantly that the girl had made no false choice of partners. He placed a hand on his belted hip raised the other to touch her clicking fingers now and again and he too swayed and dipped and circled though in a lesser fashion to give background to her brilliance the subtle and perfect accompaniment to a wonderful performance.

Lolo was a rose in the night a wind in the twilight a laugh and a jest and a challenge. Velantrie the stranger was a young tree in a storm a proud hard tree by winds and the thunder of his booted heels rolled under the lightning of the castanets.

Great snakes said Perk softly ain't that amazin.

He spoke to nobody in particular but the blond boy who stood beside him heard. In a breath as if with an effort and Val Hannon on the other side glanced up. The boy's face was pale as milk and his blue eyes were narrowed to cold points.

Down the room and back again went the two. Lolo was all about Velantrie [illegible] striking challenging and all the while her little [illegible] was fast alight that she [illegible] for all to see.

As the music chanted [illegible] the fiddler [illegible] of the floor directly before the musicians and she was utterly [illegible] a flame in the breeze [illegible] at flittered first [illegible] was all of them [illegible] eyes throbbed drinking [illegible]

And then as the music ended [illegible] Velantrie [illegible] backward in his [illegible] arm and [illegible] the floor [illegible] the latest dance invitation.

Half and [illegible] the ma[illegible] hesitated a fraction of a second the perfect action of the steps and the music lost its first beat in the second's wait. Lolo's face glowed deeper—and Velantrie [illegible]

It's—[illegible] a chuckling whisper as the lion lo[illegible] was ashes and cold reached to his hit.

There was a flash of metal a step forward—and in that second Val Hannon beside him dropped a lightning quick hand on his shoulder and swung him round in action—as she had an often swung her doll. There was an oath a shot that went wild and landed in Hennell's tray on the platform's edge across the room and Velantrie arrested halfway to Lolo's arms [illegible] looked straight past the boy into the blazing black eyes of the girl who had saved his life.

For one sharp moment the tension held.

Then Velantrie slowly straightened up and Lolo slipped from his arm forgotten as she had forgotten the blond boy. He stood still breathing hard his blue eyes fastened on Val's face a frown between them.

From all the men crowded in [illegible] between and [illegible] sided the boys away while from that other side of the room Velantrie's followers came like a tide still packed their faces aflame and keen their hands on their holsters ready.

[illegible] Velantrie [illegible] I [illegible] nothing wrong.

The [illegible] was to Val [illegible] hand and smiled it was the [illegible] lighting of his face like the lifting of a curtain that was his chiefest charm.

I've had mah a close call [illegible] said simply and have done [illegible] for to be the [illegible] a pretty [illegible] than that [illegible] the [illegible] before who could think and act like that. If you knew me he finished frankly perhaps you would not take my hand. But I want to thank you.

Gravely Val looked full into his brilliant eyes. The light and the laughter of the earlier night were gone from her face why she could not have told to have her life yet it was not because of the near tragedy that she knew.

Yes she said [illegible] I will take your hand.

And her firm brown fingers closed around his in a strong clasp. The smile died on the man's face and he looked into hers for another long moment.

Then he loosened her hand and turned away.

I shall not forget he said.

Instantly his men closed about him they marched across the floor among the crowd which fell back from them filed compactly out the door and were gone.

The celebration was over in Santa Leandra. Dim shapes rode through the dust and cool starlight that presaged the dawn and the denizens of the rangeland scattered for another year.

It was mid-morning when they rode into Paradise and far off Val shaded her eyes with her hand and searched the familiar place.

Lays she said at last there's something wrong at home. The riders are all in and hanging around the corrals. There's dad—he's waiting for us.

There was something wrong at Paradise indeed.

John Hannon met them at the corner of the great house and his face bore signs of strain. His dark eyes were cold and narrow.

GAMBLING

Mah Jongg the Chinese game of chance played with domino shaped pieces of ivory and bamboo—is threatening to take the place of the card game bridge.

One reason for Mah Jongg's popularity is its cost. A standard set sells for $18.4 up into the hundreds. Americans usually buy things because they are extremely cheap or very expensive. Sometimes men who have been through several panics and booms know this. We are a nation of extremists.

Someone must be making a big clean up selling Mah Jongg sets. Yet the game is thousands of years old. It [illegible] market. Word is [illegible] this waiting to [illegible]

DIRT

[illegible] debt mostly incurred [illegible] we have [illegible] and hard times as many people [illegible] as Britain, for shouldering the debt.

If every American chipped in $200 our whole national debt could be wiped out overnight. That will not be done but it is the quickest and cheapest way to get rid of the burden. For one thing it would save interest payments and the huge cost of the army of tax officials.

For a nation as for an individual, the most important economic problem is to get out of debt—and stay out.

RIPPING

Money to dodge taxation hides in tax exempt bonds. About $26 million dollars worth of tax exempt bonds have been issued in the last 12 years by cities counties states, etc. A constitutional amendment, now being considered by congress, would stop the tax exempt attraction.

Can you explain why the average individual or business would rather pay a dollar in taxes than anything else? At the bottom of our hearts do we believe in government as much as we claim. Most of us are philosophical anarchists when the tax man shows up.

SPORTS

The winged [illegible] are coming back [illegible] wear with [illegible] clothes. [illegible] who [illegible] to pay [illegible] for the explanation of everything recalls Herr Teufelsdreckh's observation that the lower the women's skirts the higher the morals. Hats. The [illegible] cannot be [illegible] as much in a [illegible] when women dress formally, [illegible] fall into line.

More probable explanation is that [illegible] wish to change their [illegible] in styles. Most men [illegible] a dreadful of out-of-date clothes.

CRUELTY

In Mexico City dog fights are prohibited by Mayor Prieto Laurens. He says it's disgraceful to pit animals against each other in a death struggle. Word is out that he will stop cock fights next. The bull fight may even be in hand.

This will especially please so-called civilized white men who are opposed to cruelty to animals. Their opposition is most emphatic between the wars that slaughter mere humans.

WILL THESE EUROPEAN PRINCES EVER REIGN?

CAROL RUMANIA GUSTAF SWEDEN LEOPOLD, BELGIUM HUMBERT ITALY OLAF, NORWAY FREDERICK, DENMARK ALFONSO SPAIN

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan 31—Analysis by pessimistic observers of the European crisis who see in it the possible firebrand of another great war, has created new alarm in royalist circles.

The rising question is What monarchies are marked for doom?

Slender threads tie down many thrones, they think whether the flame of war sweeps through Europe or not And now increasing alarmist reports have dragged from obscurity into the spotlight many of the inconspicuous princes who are heirs to European thrones The internationally known Prince of Wales is not the only one who is concerned if a new chapter on kings and royalty comes to be written

Will these princes one day be kings? Notables among them are Carol, crown prince of Rumania.

Gustaf Adolf duke of Skane and crown prince of Sweden

Leopold duke of Brabant and prince of Belgium

Humbert prince of Piedmont and prince of Italy

Olaf prince of Norway

Frederick, crown prince of Denmark

Don Alfonso prince of the Asturias and prince of Spain

The lives of most of these have been blank pages up to now Unlike the prince of Wales, called the "drummer" for the British Empire they are little known

Carol of Rumania has balked largest in the news because of a lurid past Once Carol renounced his right to the throne and married Mlle Zizi Lambrino beautiful Rumanian girl She was offered as high as $3,000,000 to relinquish her claims but she refused A high court however decreed the marriage null and void because the banns had not been published properly The decree came shortly after Zizi baby was born Carol was packed off on a trip to Japan passing through the United States Later he paid court to Princess Helen daughter of the late King Constantine of Greece

Eldest, most scholarly and solid of heirs apparent is Gustaf Adolf of Sweden. His tastes run to archaeology and ancient history and he is at the head of an expedition digging in an ancient city on the Aegean sea His wife, now dead, was the English Princess Margaret, cousin of King George.

Leopold of Belgium now 21 was with his father King Albert on a visit to the United States a couple of years ago. He is a lieutenant in the Belgian army and rumored engaged to Princess Yolande of Italy Her brother Humbert of Italy is also a lieutenant in the Italian army and is reported engaged to Leopold's sister, Princess Marie Jose of Belgium

Olaf of Norway is 19 and a nephew of King George of England His hobbies are fishing boating and skiing jumping Frederick of Denmark 23 took prizes once as a boy scout and his specialty now is motoring Don Alfonso of Spain is the youngest of the heirs apparent He is 15 and recently became a sergeant in the Spanish army.

MOVIE MAN SAYS HE SOLD CANDY AND NOT TICKETS

T. D. Wilkie, moving picture show operator of Burkburnett, was fined $100 and costs by a jury in the county court at law at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when it returned a verdict of guilty in the case in which he stood charged with operating a show on Sunday

F. D Wilkie, proprietor of a moving picture house in Burkburnett who is on trial in the county court at law on a charge of operating a picture show on Sunday contends that he did not sell tickets for his show but that he sold the patrons boxes of candy and permitted them to see a show while they were eating their candy

The defendant was tried and convicted in the justice of peace court at Burkburnett and fined $20 and costs He appealed the case to the county court at law

It is charged that on January 12 1923 he operated his picture show on Sunday in violation of the Sunday laws of the state He testified on the witness stand Tuesday that he charged people fifty cents for a box of candy and that for each purchase people were admitted to see the show free of charge

The state asked for double the fine in event the jury found the defendant guilty of the charge on account of a former conviction for the same offense

JUDGE GUY ROGERS DISCUSSES SCHOOLS AT CLUB LUNCHEON

Judge Guy Rogers spoke to the University club at its weekly luncheon at the Y W C A Tuesday on Schools as a Basis for Good Citizenship The speaker stressed the need of constructive and conservative building in the public school system as a means toward the building of good citizenship A general diffusion of intelligence which he declared was the basis for an enlightened citizenship can best be gained through the improvement of our school system Judge Rogers urged the need of equal opportunities for every student regardless of his financial or social standing

Joe Bashara spoke briefly on the work being done in the High Y and urged the need of a city Y M C A He outlined the work that is being done in other cities for intellectual physical and spiritual betterment and called attention to the fact that Wichita Falls was the only city of this size in the state that had no organization of this kind

Miss Pearl Smith entertained the club with a reading the hearty applause was evidence of the appreciation of the membership she responded to the encore

SETS ASIDE JURY VERDICT IN SUIT FOR COMMISSION

Judge F A Martin of the 59th district court set aside a verdict returned in a suit for commission Tuesday morning and upon re-trial of the case gave an instructed verdict for the defendants

The suit was styled Mansfield and Campbell against the Town send Oil company in which the plaintiff sought judgment for $2 000 for commission alleged to be due him At the first trial the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff

Judge Martin set aside the jury's verdict on the grounds that it was not supported by sufficient evidence The same testimony was introduced at the trial Tuesday morning The court then instructed the jury to return a verdict for the defendants

ONLY ONE CASE BEFORE CITY TUESDAY MORNING

Only one case was on the city docket for disposal Tuesday morning The man charged with drunkenness failed to appear for trial a bond of $21 was forfeited for failure to answer to the charge

Three cases in which the defendants demanded a jury trial were passed until Tuesday afternoon Two men charged with drunkenness and a woman held on a vagrancy charge will come to trial at the Tuesday afternoon session

TWO WHITE MEN HELD FOLLOWING SHOOTING SCRAPE

FOREMAN OF TEAMS AT DIVERSION DAM IS HELD PRISONER

NEGRO LABORER SHOT BUT WILL RECOVER

Officers Effect Arrest Late Monday Afternoon; Negro Is Brought Home.

Two white men are in jail at Archer City as the result of a row that occurred at the diversion dam site a week ago last Saturday which resulted in a negro laborer being shot in the back

Grace Hilson foreman in charge of the teams work at the dam site and another white man known as cowboy were the men placed under arrest by Sheriff Goodman of Archer county Chief Deputy Sheriff Jack Miller of Wichita Walter Bebout, special officer and Hill Bishop local representative of the department of justice

The officers returned to the city late Monday evening after having effected the arrests The arrests were made on warrants charging murder as word had been received at Archer City that a negro had been killed These charges were dismissed and less serious ones preferred after the facts in the case were learned

The negro Dad Johnson was returned to the home of friends in this city by the officers According to the aged negro he had been detained there at the camp after the shooting It was only Monday morning that word was received by local officers of the shooting affair

Friends of the injured negro communicated the information to Deputy Miller here and he at once began the investigation.

The negro told the officers that he was shot as he was attempting to leave the camp after a number of other negroes had left An examination showed that a bullet had entered his back, going through his body and coming out below the stomach Physicians who examined him said that none of his vital organs had been punctured and that he would recover.

FORMER ORIOLE STAR IS HOLDOUT THIS YEAR

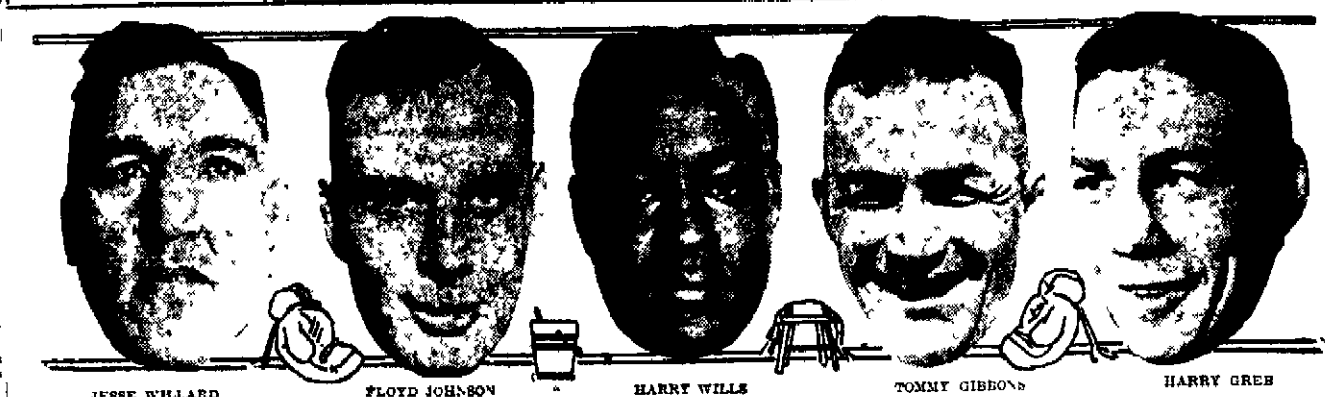
SELECTING OPPONENT FOR JACK DEMPSEY

TOMMY GIBBONS IS BIG ENOUGH AND ENTITLED TO CONSIDERATION



JESSE WILLARD — FLOYD JOHNSON — HARRY WILLS — TOMMY GIBBONS — HARRY GREB

By BILLY EVANS

Who will be Jack Dempsey's next opponent?

Will Harry Wills admittedly the best of the colored fighters get the first crack at the champion?

What about Floyd Johnson? Did his win over the veteran Bill Brennan place him in line for consideration?

Should any attention be paid to the demand on the part of Jesse Willard for a return bout? Dempsey won the championship from Willard and usually a defeated fighter always receives consideration when seeking a return engagement

Then there is Tommy Gibbons. What about Sir Thomas

A year ago Gibbons was considered a certainty for a Dempsey meeting. Then came the upset by Harry Greb which cost Gibbons at least $100 000. He could have easily demanded and received such a sum had it not been for his setback at the hands of Greb

Greb Bout Costly

Despite his defeat on points in the Greb bout Gibbons certainly looms up as worthy of a chance. Dempsey fought Brennan, Carpentier and Miske in championship bouts, and none of the trio had any more to recommend themselves as contenders than has Gibbons

Harry Greb is the most difficult fighter in the world to fathom. He will outpoint most any fighter in the business who fails to land a sleep producing punch.

Prior to the bout with Gibbons I had a talk with Harry before he stepped into the ring. I asked him how he felt about the outcome

"Nothing to it unless Gibbons slips one over and stops me. He will see a million or more boxing gloves if the bout goes the limit

That is just what happened Greb never let Gibbons set showed him a million gloves and won as he pleased

Greb Versus Dempsey

If Greb fought Dempsey and Jack was unable to knock him out, it is just possible that Dempsey would look as bad in defeat as did Gibbons

All of which makes it seem that possibly the public and the promoters are attaching entirely too much importance to Gibbons' defeat by Greb

When the question of a bout between Gibbons and Dempsey is made, the question of size is always raised. Some of the ring experts feel that physically Gibbons is not a big enough man to take a chance with Dempsey. Only recently the New York boxing commission vetoed a Dempsey-Gibbons bout for that reason

Such talk is a bugbear. Working along that line of reasoning anybody to fit Dempsey stepped into the ring with Willard, Jeffries, Fitzsimmons or any Dempsey in every way. There is no such difference between the physique of Dempsey and Gibbons

Fits Feared No One

The bigger they are the harder they fall. The late Bob Fitzsimmons coined that expression. Many a time it proved the truth of it

Jeffries in his bout with Willard bore out the wisdom of lanky Bob's now famous speech.

The bigger they are, the harder they fall

Gibbons is entitled to consideration as are a number of other heavyweights who are clamoring for a chance

While Floyd Johnson didn't step in to fit Brennan his victory over Brennan in the heavyweight division makes him a promising possibility

Gibbons Merits Dempsey Bout

Tommy Gibbons is too small to fight Jack Dempsey, decrees Chairman William Muldoon of the New York State Boxing commission

It is to laugh

Dempsey wasn't too small to fight Willard. Bob Fitzsimmons wasn't too small for Jeffries, and so on down the line. Old Joe Walcott used to fight opponents 50 pounds heavier and a foot taller and still hand them a lacing

Personal reasons must enter into such a decision. A glance at the statistics of the two fighters is ample proof

Dempsey weighs only about 20 pounds more than Gibbons. The champion's height is six feet one inch while Gibbons is a quarter of an inch shorter

In all other measurements Gibbons compares very favorably with Dempsey. The figures certainly do not bear out the justice of the decision that prevents Gibbons from a chance at the title

WINS 100 GAMES—TEAM CLAIMS BASKET BALL TITLE

NEW YORK Jan 6—These are the days of basket ball records.

In the west the Vincennes Ind team has been attracting much attention in interscholastic circles

During the last three years the Vincennes team has not been beaten on its home floor and has lost only one game in the last 50 played

Down east the Passaic N J high school five is making noise. The Passaic team seems to outclass the high school fives in its section as it has won 100 straight games

Interscholastic games in football created keen interest in the gridiron sport last year. A number of games were staged not only by the colleges but the preparatory schools as well

Why not an interscholastic game between Vincennes and Passaic. It would seem from the records of the two clubs that they are entitled to represent the west and east

Coach Lloyd of the Passaic team is ready to talk business with any high school team that disputes the right of Passaic to be called the national champs of this class

For statistics tell the story that Faber pitched in 38 games, Shocker 34, Shawkey 30, Rixey 33 and Cooper [illegible] but there is another member of the pitching fraternity who has evidence in the book showing that he had few idle moments in the National league last summer. He is Lou North, a right-handed curver with the St Louis Cardinals

When it comes to iron man stunts around the pitching rubber North has a record that surpasses anything exhibited by Faber, Shocker, Shawkey, Rixey and Cooper

North appeared in 53 games last season—more than any other major league hurler

North however was not a regular. That is he did not toil in long and often as others

In his 53 games North pitched in only 135 innings which is an average of less than three innings per game. Which means that he filled the position of relief pitcher

LOU NORTH

Out of the list of 53 games North pitched in only four complete contests. Against this in the stretch of 31 full games for Faber North is credited with 10 victories and charged with three defeats

Billy Evans says

The inexperience of the major league recruit stands out in many unusual ways until he finally acquires the polish that fits him to be classed as a regular

Making the grade in the big show is far from a cinch proposition. The major leagues contain the very cream of the baseball world. Every player is a star in his own league the opposition

The inexperience of a White Sox rookie last summer saved Bill Wilson and myself considerable trouble. It is a matter of fact that the act of the recruit proved a life saver for the umpire...

Cleveland was playing Chicago. If my memory serves me correctly the bases were filled two outs and the score a tie. Edwards, a recruit southpaw was doing the pitching for Cleveland.

It had been a wild contest both managers using several pitchers and resorting to many pinch hitters. In the ninth inning with the bases full Manager Gleason of the Sox hurried to use a pinch hitter but all slugger available was a recruit by the name of [illegible]

Walsh, former White Sox star, was umpiring back of the plate. Gleason finally decided to hence on the recruit and sent him up to bat

The first ball that Edwards threw struck about [illegible] of the plate, and evading the frantic efforts of Catcher Steven O'Neill to break it down the ball rolled to the grandstand. It sure was some wild pitch

From my position back of the pitcher I decided the game was over as the runner from third crossed the plate. Walsh, umpiring balls and strikes also felt the same way as he started to walk off the field the moment the run was scored. Then I saw Steve O'Neill grab him, and in a minute Walsh was surrounded by the entire Cleveland team claiming the ball hit the batter. Such a claim is usually made in the pinch with the winning run going over

All the batter needed to do was start for the bench after the runner had crossed the plate and the game would have ended so far as the umpires were concerned. As I walked to the plate to see what the trouble was, the batter Graham suddenly dashed to first base

Immediately I realized the recruit had tipped off the play

"Where did the ball hit you?" I shouted to him

"Just grazed my toes," he replied.

That ended the argument. The runners were sent back and Graham was retired for the third out. [illegible] never [illegible]

Walking off the field Bill Gleason he remarked [illegible]

Three things [illegible] a veteran [illegible] have grasped the situation in a moment. [illegible] called off the [illegible] the ball did hit [illegible] the umpires thought otherwise

SISLER FAILS TO HIT SAFELY IN ONLY 17 GAMES

By NEA Service

CHICAGO Feb 6—George Sisler last year broke two records held by Ty Cobb

In addition Sisler led the American league in batting and was voted the most valuable player in the American league

All of which makes the year 1922 stand out as the big season in the career of the Browns' star

Six or hit safely in 41 consecutive games. That feat shattered Cobb's record of 40 straight made in 1911

In 1911 Cobb batted .420 according to the average. To be exact his mark for the season was .4196. Last season Sisler swatted .4197 giving Sisler the shade by the fraction of a point

In making his 1922 average Sisler had only 17 hitless games. In 52 games he made one hit in 10 he had two in 25 he had three while in 12 games he made four hits. Some swatting

The Cleveland pitchers were easiest for Sisler. Against the Indians, Sisler had a batting average of .495

ENGLAND PREPARATORS TO KEEP YOUNG PEOPLE IN SCHOOLS

LONDON Feb 6—Plans have been made by the educational authorities in England and Wales to keep children between the ages of 14 and 18 in the schools rather than allow them to enter industries and other lines of work where there are already 60 000 unemployed between these ages

High Praise For Hornsby

By NEA Service

ST LOUIS Feb 6—Baseball fans and writers overlook the fielding ability of Rogers Hornsby if you will take the word of Manager branch Rickey of the Cardinals

"Because Hornsby is such a wonderful hitter the fans fail to appreciate his remarkable fielding ability" says Rickey

"Of course I know many of the experts will agree with me but I consider Hornsby one of the greatest fielding second basemen of all time.

"I have watched Eddie Collins Evers, Ritchey and other greats in action, but I will take Hornsby for mine

All things considered Hornsby is the greatest—the most valuable second baseman in the history of the game

JACK DAW IN TOYLAND

By J. TON

All of the toyland dolls were so clever over Flip's trying them in a punkball game that they asked Flip the dog how would some one like to have Flip take them for a ride? asked Jack. There was a great chorus of "I'm" "I'm" and Jack started loading on the dolls

A little clown doll managed to climb up on Flip's back and several others scrambled on his back. Now get a good hold, shouted Jack and as he told Flip to go. In an instant there was a great uproar. Flip went sailing through the air and the dolls howled out in delight

After a city policeman had chased the policeman Jill suggested that they all have a ride in a express wagon and all of the dolls climbed in and sat there. In a jiffy Flip was off riding up and down sidewalks and having a fine time (Continued)

LUDENDORFF NEAR VICTIM LYNCHING; TRAIN IS ATTACKED

By Associated Press

VIENNA Feb 6—General Ludendorff is reported to have narrowly escaped lynching when his train was stormed by communists at Brick Kapfenberg and Weenernustadt while on his way to Vienna from Klangenfurt Carinthia where his arrival on Saturday caused serious fighting between nationalist workmen and pan German irregulars.

The police removed Ludendorff from the train at Hetzendorf just outside Vienna and requested his immediate departure from Austria.

FORMER GOVERNOR OF MISS. ARRESTED CHARGE CONTEMPT

HATTIESBURG Miss Feb 6—The former Governor of Mississippi was arrested here today on a federal warrant charging contempt of court. The arrest of Mr Longino was ordered by Judge Cox of the southern district of Mississippi on charges growing out of his alleged violation of a court order issued several months ago.

GOOD SEASON IN HASKELL RESULT RAIN AND SNOW

HASKELL TEXAS Feb 6—During the past three days Haskell and trade territory has received more than two inches of rain fall and less than an inch of sleet. Monday night and Tuesday it began to fall and from the indications it will be a heavy rain. This section has been in need of moisture for some time and the outlook is very good for fall wheat.

Many farmers are making preparations for a new spring crop and if the present weather holds will permit planting.

Spring oats and spring barley are in some of Haskell county and many farmers have sown their spring crops and does exceedingly well with the moisture received. While the wheat crop is rather small for this section the outlook is very good for fall wheat.

Not more than 30 per cent of the land has been prepared for spring planting owing to the dry weather but all preparations for spring feed and cotton crops are now being made and no doubt the cotton acreage will be increased 20 per cent over last year.

Temperature registered 7° Saturday, 19 Monday, but thawed rapidly today.

Mrs. Poindexter Writes Article Stirs Up Society

WASHINGTON D C Feb 6—If the wives of congressional circles had anything to say about Miles Poindexter lame duck senator from Washington he didn't receive much assistance as applicant for a letter from the country to Santa Claus. It seems that the senator himself had but a few words. She received full page Margot Asquith's comments on a article for one of the Eastern coast papers which has had the effect of rousing the social lions of Washington and they have been roaring ever since.

HELIUM TO MAKE AIR LINERS SAFE

By FRANK J HILLY
NEA Service Staff Writer

NEW YORK Feb 6—Complete safety for passengers on the airship line to be established between New York and Chicago next year by Dr Johann Schiette backed by a group of American millionaires will be attained by the use of helium.

This the first commercial use of a non inflammable gas for rigible inflation was announced by Dr Schiette in a special exclusive interview with NEA Service.

The German builder of the Zeppelin Lanz airship who is here for conferences with the $3,000,000 American Investment corporation supplemented his statement of NEA Service several days ago that the use of helium would be the signal for the construction of the vessel.

America is the only country where helium exists in great quantities. Scientists of Germany and France have been able to secure only small quantities of this gas from petroleum springs in Galicia and Rumania and Kansas. The difficulty heretofore has been in refining it and obtaining sufficient quantities at a cost that is not prohibitive.

We have solved the helium problem. We will be refining plant. Our dirigibles will be completely inflated with helium—without the gas auxiliary bag. There will be no danger of explosion.

This announcement is expected to chief factor in the establishment of New York Chicago airship line and commercial transportation. Before these airships are put into operation it is probable that the government dirigible the Z 1 now being built at Lakehurst N J will be launched and the airship will be the first commercial venture.

Dr Schiette also stated his statement concerning the first line to be established between San Francisco and the Alaska coast Los Angeles Seattle San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The passenger deck of the 700 foot airship carrying 100 passengers will be 400 feet long and 50 feet wide he said. From the airship will run all the outer deck space. The center of the deck will be kept free for the boat deck. New York to Chicago.

Starting and landing will be either from roofs of hotels or landing gears. There will be a passenger firm for each passenger. The passenger firm will be in the form of a rigible. The passenger firm will be in the form of a rigible. The passenger firm will be in the form of a rigible. The passenger firm will be in the form of a rigible.

In regard to the fare we do not know the answer. It will be said this would be an sleeping accommodations for two berths. The same steamers. Meals and baths will be extra.

The American Investment corporation which has consented to put up the Schiette Lanz airship plants in this country is the parent body. It is organized under the Central Air Service of America, the air lines. Such financial people as Andrew W Mellon and officers of the Gulf Central Electric and Aluminum company of America are behind it.

One of the main considerations is that airships will be safer. Many

AGENTS REPORT A LARGE INCREASE IN SMUGGLING TO U. S.

GOVERNMENT IS BEING DEFRAUDED OUT OF MILLIONS OF DOLLARS.

"DRY" ENFORCEMENT IS GIVEN AS CHIEF CAUSE

Other Lines Are Added to Increase the Already Large Profit Made.

WASHINGTON Feb 6—Reports from agents of the treasury department show there has been an enormous increase in smuggling and while detailed figures are not available it is declared the United States is being defrauded out of millions of dollars in revenue by this illicit trade It has assumed such alarming proportions that a conference of customs officials is to be held soon to determine what additional means if any should be adopted to put a stop to this business

Prohibition enforcement is given as the chief cause for the increase in smuggling Rum runners who for several years now have been practicing their nefarious trade along the shores and borders of the United States are flush with their returns from this business enormous though they are and many of the more daring ones have added side lines of silks narcotics and other products the importation of which is either prohibited or which carry high protective duties

But the United States is not the only sufferer from this trade for rum runners along the Canadian border and probably along the Rio Grande as well, are not content to go back empty handed They carry cargoes both ways and thus have established more or less thriving and profitable businesses on both sides of the international boundaries

As numerous and pestiferous as rum runners on land have become, however, their number is small compared with those operating along the sea coasts There, in many sections, it has become a highly organized business and while the attention of the country has been attracted to the liquor boats riding at ease out beyond the three-mile limit in the vicinity of New York those in a position to know assert this liquor smuggling represents but a small per centage of the total All along the Atlantic coast, from New York to Florida, there are hundreds of little bays and estuaries into which swift power boats can dart, leave their cargoes at appointed places and dash back to sea to be lifted up onto the deck of the mother boat.

From Florida all along the Gulf coast the situation is even more ideal, for this section, for the most part, is more low lying and with even a sparser population than along the Atlantic coast. There, according to reports filed with the customs division of the treasury department, the smugglers have called modern science to their aid The cargo carrying ships are equipped with wireless and their confederates on the land have their individual receiving stations The ship out in the Gulf radios its location by some pre-arranged code or where it will be at a given time. The little boats dart out load up with contraband and are back up some bayou making deliveries before the customs officers can more than get started

Government officials frankly admit they are almost at their wits end They point out that the enormous profits derived through smuggling of liquor and drugs has attracted to this business the most daring among the lawless. One successful venture means something akin to affluence for all profit sharing members of the band and the highest wages for those they employ The chance of capture is declared to be only about one in fifteen, even around New York and considerably less than this in the sparsely settled sections so that recruits are always to be found.

VERNON DISTRICT COURT IS CONVENED ON MONDAY

VERNON, TEXAS, Feb 6—District court opened here Monday with Judge J V Leak presiding Judge Leak empanceled the grand jury and called the docket Many cases were set and Judge Leak stated that he would call the cases according to number on the days that they were set and the smallest number would be called first All cases set for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday would be called in order and on Thursdays of each week settings for the balance of the week would be called Any cases set for the first three days of the week that had not been reached on Thursday could not be tried as those set Thursdays and the balance of the week would have precedence

Judge Leak instructed the officers to keep all parties outside of the bar except officers of the court He further stated that he did not want anyone standing around in the court room, that he would permit no reading of newspapers in the court room nor sleeping or eating His remarks were well received by those who were listing and what he said gave evidence that this court would be a place to work and not to loaf.

INCREASE IN RECEIPTS AT ELECTRA POSTOFFICE

ELECTRA, TEXAS Feb. 6—Receipts of the local post office for the year just ended show an increase of nearly 40 percent over the previous year. The increase is shown for every quarter of the year, with the exception of the first three months, ending March 31 Totals for 1922 are $24,488.31 and for 1921 the total was $19,795.28

Postmaster A N Richardson insists that a statement of receipts does not give any adequate idea of the volume of business done by the post office for the reason that so many of the larger companies operating here buy their stamps at other places where their head offices are located sending the stamps to Electra for use of their force here

The congestion which was so marked at the post office during the holiday season, has been somewhat relieved However at present the facilities are inadequate, as the long line of men and women who gather every day at the windows testify Every effort is being made to secure more room and a larger force in order that mail may be handled promptly

TEXAS EDITORS TO HAVE MID-WINTER MEETING IN AUSTIN

AUSTIN TEXAS, Feb. 6.—More than 100 Texas editors, members of the Texas Press association, are expected here Thursday and Friday for the mid-winter meeting of the association. Arrangements for the two-day session have been practically completed, according to Austin members

Work of the state association during the coming year and plans for new activities will be considered at the business sessions of the convention.

Social features also will play an important part of the meeting, it is said. Among the plans for this phase of the program is a reception by Governor and Mrs. Neff at the executive mansion, visit to the legislature, tour of Austin and visit to various state institutions and banquet by the department of home economics of the university and the Austin chamber of commerce in honor of visiting newspaper men

The initial meeting of the mid-winter session will be held at 9 20 Thursday morning. Music will be furnished at this session by the University band Addresses of welcome will be delivered by Eldred M McKinnon, president of the Austin chamber of commerce and Dr William Mayes, dean of the school of journalism at the university Responses will be by James H Lowry Honey Grove Signal, and Henry Edwards, of the Troup Banner Thursday afternoon the visitors will pay a visit to the legislature and in the evening be entertained by Governor and Mrs. Neff

Friday morning will be given over to a business session Friday afternoon the editors will be taken for a drive over Austin, visiting state institutions, including the libraries at the university and the school of journalism. Friday night the banquet in honor of the newspapermen will be given together with a program arranged by students of the university

SAVANNAH READY TO RECEIVE TROOPS HOME FROM RHINE

SAVANNAH GA Feb 6—Savannah is ready to receive the American troops from Germany who will arrive Wednesday aboard the transport St Mihiel Plans have been completed for a monster welcome to the last of the American troops from the Rhine from the time the vessel is sighted until she departs.

The ship scheduled to reach Savannah at 7 o clock Wednesday morning is not expected to arrive in port until after noon according to a radio message from the commander

There are aboard the St Mihiel 848 enlisted men and officers 73 German wives and 24 children About 500 of the soldiers will disembark at Savannah to be discharged there The transport will then leave for Charleston S C expected to dock there Thursday and a number of officers and later proceed to New York

Immediately after a barbecue for the soldiers arranged by Savannah merchants here Wednesday, a parade will be staged, participated in by the troops and four hundred enlisted men will then entrain to Fort Screven near Savannah, where they have been assigned.

ONLY SIXTEEN STATES FREE FROM LYNCHINGS

WASHINGTON Feb 16—Only 16 states have been free from lynchings in the last 10 years the commission of church and race relations of the federal council of churches of Christ in America declared today in an analysis of lynching statistics from 1885 to 1921 Of those, no lynching has ever been reported in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire or Vermont, the statement said, and none has been reported since 1889 in New Jersey Utah or Connecticut. The other states given a "clear record" in the last ten years were Nevada, Colorado, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin Michigan, Indiana, Delaware and Pennsylvania

The lynching victims from 1885 to 1921 included 1,011 white men and 17 white women, and 3,801 negro men and 48 negro women, according to the analysis

The statement cited the lynching of Italians, Mexicans, Jews and a German during the war as "indicating that lawlessness spreads where prejudice abounds"

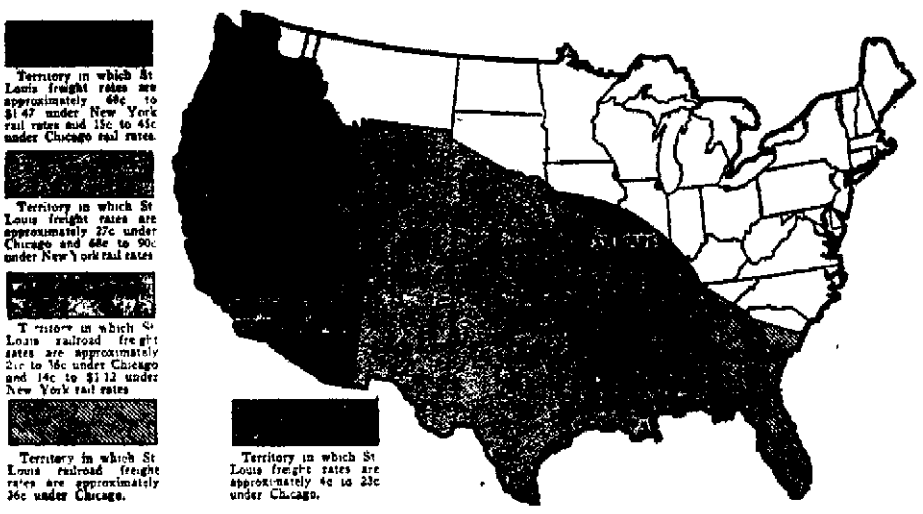
ST. LOUIS

Your Economical Market



Mr. Merchant—

You Pay the Freight

YOUR saving in freight on merchandise bought in St. Louis, over other wholesale markets, gives you a wider margin of profit and enables you to make lower prices to your customers. The freight bills you pay are less from St. Louis than from any other big market because the mileage is less. The above map graphically shows what you save in dollars and cents from St. Louis over other big wholesale centers.

Vast strides in the development of American goods and American craftsmanship have been made in the last few years. Every merchant should go to market this Spring to personally inspect the new kinds of merchandise and prevailing fashions and keep pace with the advancing standards. It is to your advantage to come to market early, while the stocks in all lines are complete.

Imported goods have again reached the market in quantity, and the Spring stocks of St. Louis wholesale houses include large showings from various countries. Complete open stocks of products of domestic and foreign origin are now on display. The output of St. Louis factories and trade-marked lines are also ready for immediate shipment. St. Louis' package-car system assures quick delivery.

St. Louis invites you to arrange your Spring buying trip so that you can attend its
